Senator on Spot On Second Day Of Red Inquiry

Files Are Demanded By Committee and He Is Called Liar

WASHINGTON, Mar. 9—(AP)—Senate investigators today put Senator McCarthy (R-Wis) on notice that they will expect him to produce the files on which he based his charges of Communist infiltration in the state department.

Chairman Tydings (D-Md) said the Senate Foreign Relations subcommittee investigating the charges will want McCarthy's files to compare with information the group intends to get from government agencies.

Tydings told McCarthy to keep his files intact. He said if they are not produced voluntarily at the proper time the subcommittee may subpoena them.

Tydings gave McCarthy his notice about the files when the second day of hearings began.

Minutes later, the committee fell

Government Buys More Bins For Surplus Grain Storage

WASHINGTON, March 9—(AP)—Ignoring protests of the private storage industry, the government went ahead today with the purchase of more bins to handle surplus grain under its multi-billion dollar price support program.

The Agriculture Department announced the award of contracts for 20,700 steel, aluminum and wooden bins to supplement storage facilities already owned by it. Spokesmen for the commercial storage industry have appealed to Congress to halt further entry of the government into the storage business.

(Harry Silcott, chairman of the AAA in Fayette County, was in Columbus Thursday and unavailable for comment. It was Silcott who put the pressure on the government last summer to get bins and storage space here to handle the wheat the county's farmers wanted to hold under government loan.

(Officials of the Fayette County Co-op, which operates the big elevators on South Fayette Street, had no comment on the government move to buy more storage bins.)

Today's awards were for bins with a total capacity of 81,380,000 bushels. Prices to be paid were said to average 22.5 cents a bushel, bringing the total cost of the new bins to slightly more than $18,000,000.

The awards called for delivery within 45 days.

The awards by types of structure, name of company, number of bins and total capacity respectively, included:

Steel—Steelcraft Manufacturing Co., Rossmyre, Ohio, 750 and 2,437,500 bushels.

Aluminum—Hawards Manufacturing Co., Cincinnati, 1,500 and 4,875,000 bushels; Steelcraft Manufacturing Co., Rossmyre, Ohio, 1,250 and 4,062,500 bushels; Steel Company of Ohio, Columbus, 2,000 and 6,500,000 bushels, and Cenco Engineering and Manufacturing Co., Cincinnati, 2,000 and 6,500,000 bushels.

Fire Protection Is Strengthened Here

Washington C. H. and Greenfield Reach Agreement for Mutual Aid

A mutual fire protection agreement between Washington C. H. and Greenfield today was in prospect for the immediate future.

The agreement was approved by the Washington C. H. council at its Wednesday night meeting. Greenfield's council already had given its approval to a similar ordinance.

All that remains to complete it is the formal signing of the contract by officials of the two municipalities.

The contractual agreement is to become effective March 15 and remain in effect for three years.

The ordinance approved by the Washington C. H. council authorizes City Manager Winston W. Hill to enter into the mutual contract with Greenfield.

Indications today were that the contract would be signed before the end of this week so the protective arrangement will get started on schedule.

Under the agreement, Washington C. H. will be assured help from the Greenfield Fire Department and, in return, Greenfield will be assured the same kind of aid by Washington C. H. firemen in case of a serious conflagration.

The agreement provides that each city is to send one piece of fire fighting equipment and two competent firemen upon request.

It is the first time in many years that a mutual aid agreement for assistance in fire fighting, has been entered into with another city, and such arrangement may be extended to other nearby points as a further guarantee of adequate help should it be needed.

Another ordinance adopted by council was to transfer money from the general fund to the following funds: $200 to the city hall fund; $50 to the city incidental and insurance fund; $25 to the treasurer's incidental fund and $250 to the police department for special policemen.

Other matters were discussed by council, but no action was taken at the session.

Lawmakers generally predicted that Mr. Truman will sign the repeal bill which Congress sent to the White House last yesterday.

The Senate approved the measure then by a 59 to 20 vote. It passed the House Tuesday, 262 to 106.

Provisions put into the bill by dairy state lawmakers who want to prevent oleomargarine from being passed off as butter call for: 1. The serving of oleomargarine in triangular patties in public eating places—or, signs identifying the product as margarine.

2. In the case of retail sales, distinct labeling of the outer carton and inner wrapper as containing oleomargarine.

Senator Wiley (R-Wis) waged a last ditch fight against passage of the bill, just as some House members from dairy states did Tuesday.

But on Senate passage, 37 Democrats and 22 Republicans lined up for the bill.

Airliner Is Saved By Belly Landing

NEWARK, N. J., March 9—(AP)—A twin-engine C-46 transport plane with 54 persons aboard slid 300 feet in a safe belly landing last night in rain and darkness at Newark Airport.

Airport authorities said the landing gear of the ship, bound from Miami, Fla., to Newark, collapsed as the airplane touched the runway. Most of the 50 passengers thought it was merely a rough landing.

Streams of gasoline from punctured tanks spewed onto the rain-swept runway as the passengers and crew climbed down a ladder to safety. No one was injured, but a pregnant woman was taken to a hospital for a routine checkup.

Police here early today reported they had received numerous calls from citizens who said they saw a flying saucer skip through the foggy San Fernando Valley sky.

Composer Eddie Coeffman said he first spotted the bright object while driving. He said it appeared to be about 400 feet in the air and traveling at extreme speed.

Coeffman said he sped back to his home, woke his next door neighbor, actor Reed Hadley and the three of them were discussing the saucer when he said it appeared again. They looked at it with a 20-power telescope and estimated it to be 50 feet in diameter and black on top.

Reminded that the moon was in about the same position in the sky, Coeffman said:

"I've seen a lot of moons, being past 21. If that was the moon, it looked most peculiar."

The police reported that several other citizens reported seeing the object.

Victims Locked In Guard House Made of Wood

Tragedy Occurs At Secret Weapons Base in New Mexico

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., March 9—(AP)—Fourteen military prisoners—trapped behind bars—died late yesterday when a fire swept through a wooden Sandia Secret Weapons Base guardhouse.

Two other prisoners were injured critically. Seven men were overcome by smoke which boiled out of the temporary barracks type structure on the A-bomb-assembling reservation.

The fire apparently broke out in a coal-burning stove at the far western tip of the L-shaped building. It swept with incredible speed down the ceiling of the tinder dry prison and halfway up the rest of the L.

Flames licked out from the ceiling and the corridor to the inner cell blocks where the men were held prisoners behind heavy mesh wire.

The fourteen died of suffocation and burns. Authorities said 13 apparently were dead when taken from the building. The 14th died at a hospital.

Guards Overcome

Two guards—only occupants of the prison in addition to the 16 prisoners—were at the far end of the building. They were overcome by smoke. They are Cpl. Richard A. Miller, 27, Stockton, Calif., and Pvt. Wilbur Henry, 22, (route 2) South Zanesville, Ohio.

The provost marshal, Lt. Col. Ralph Tolve, and post police and Prison Officer Lt. Stephen H. Perry, and three unidentified civilian firemen also were overcome by smoke.

Sandia is a field installation of the armed forces special weapons project. It works closely with Los Alamos Atomic Installation, 60 miles west of Albuquerque.

Death Penalty Is Not Asked For Dr. Sander

MANCHESTER, N. H., March 9—(AP)—A jury trying Dr. Hermann N. Sander for murder today heard a prosecutor demand his conviction for "taking the law into his own hands" in the death of a cancer ridden patient while the defense counsel declared the woman died of her illness.

Closing arguments brought the issue of euthanasia into the forefront of the trial with Chief Defense Counsel Louis E. Wyman insisting "that is not the defense in this case," even though the prosecution raised the question.

Dr. Sander is on trial for first degree murder on charges he killed an incurable cancer patient "with malice aforethought" by injecting 40 cubic centimeters of air into her veins.

The patient was Mrs. Abbie C. Borroto, 59, Manchester housewife and a close personal friend of the defendant.

Prosecutor William L. Phinney, in his 55-minute summation, again failed to ask the death penalty for Dr. Sander but he did ask for a verdict of guilty of first degree murder.

Lustron President Fired by Receiver

COLUMBUS, March 9—(AP)—The Lustron Corp. prefabricated housing plant was being operated today with only two of its top officials. The others have been fired.

Many top executives, including Carl G. Strandlund, $50,000-a-year company president, were dismissed yesterday by Clyde M. Foraker, court-appointed receiver. U. S. District Judge Mell G. Underwood directed the dismissals. He said:

"We cut those employees whose services we considered were no longer needed in the operation of the plant. The cut will not impair operations of the plant, in the court's opinion."

In addition to top executives, many supervisory employees were let go, reducing the monthly salary payroll from $156,037.97 to $70,723.99, Foraker said. Included was Jerome Nevius, former Clark County prosecutor. He was a $600-a-month legal adviser.

Dayton Stymied By Tax Ruling

400 City Employees Ordered Laid Off

DAYTON, March 9—(AP)—The city of Dayton will lay off at least 400 city employees because of loss of municipal income tax revenue, it was decided last night.

The city commission ordered 300 employees laid off within the next two weeks and decreed a 10 percent cut in operating expenses by all departments.

The operations slash will mean an additional 100 workers will be laid off, City Manager Russell E. McClure said.

The Ohio Supreme Court ruled yesterday that the Dayton income tax is invalid because it was not approved by voters, as provided in the city charter.

The 300 to be laid off in the next fortnight include 60 police—

Meanderings

By Wash Fayette

Turn about is fair play .... and it's a lot of fun, too.

If you don't think so, just ask any one of the more than 50 old friends who turned out for an old fashioned belling for Mr. and Mrs. Joe Bryan a couple of nights ago.

More than one couple among the bellers got particular satisfaction out of the hilarious evening because Joe Bryan had been the ring leader in most of the bellings in the community for several years.

It all started fairly early in the evening but it lasted far into the night.

First stop was at Belk's Rathskeller just this side of New Holland. That was before the crowd went on to the new home Joe had built on the farm on the White Pike, south of Johnson's Crossing, for his bride, the former Miss Ruth Jane Sexton.

At the Rathskeller, everyone enjoyed early refreshments—all on Mr. Bryan—and then went on to the Bryan home.

There they were welcomed by the newlyweds. The Bryans were ready...evidently they had been expecting just what was coming. For there was plenty more to eat.

But, during the gaiety in the house, some of the ways in the crowd slipped outside and tied knots in the freshly washed clothes hanging on the line and filled Joe's boots with water. The bride and groom probably did not learn about all that until the next morning.

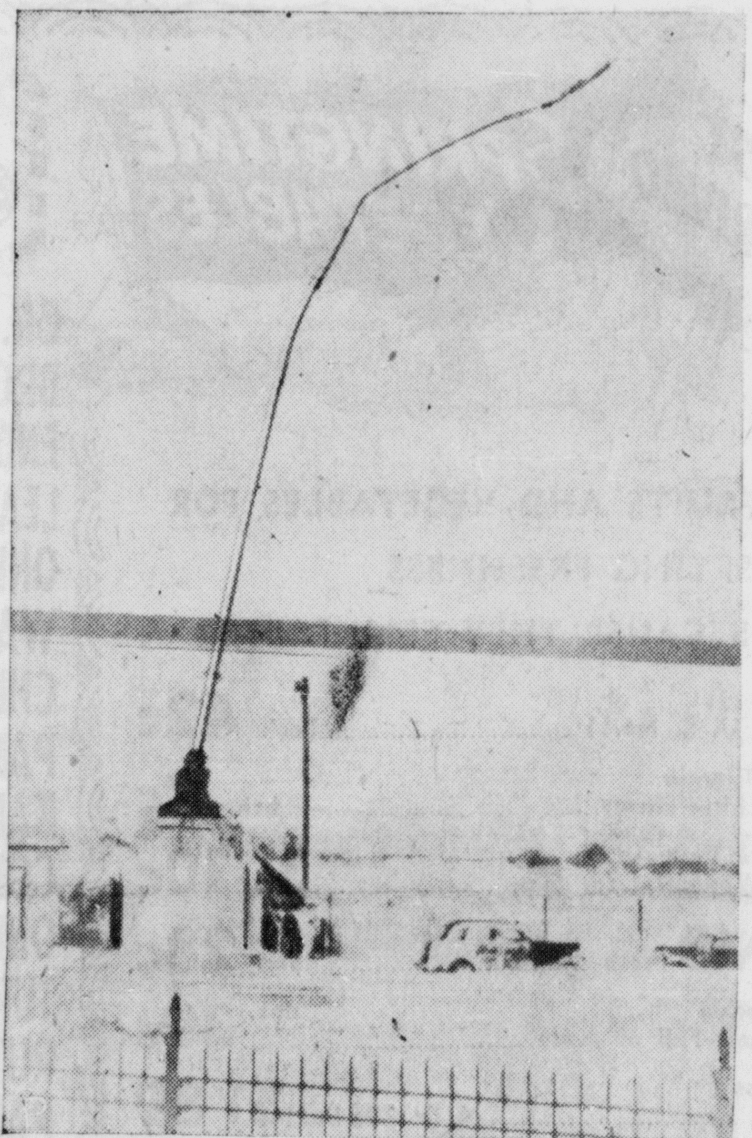

When the cupboard was bare at the Bryan home, the crowd, mostly young married couples, went back to the Rathskeller for more refreshments and a continuation of the fun. And the waiters were not spared ...since everything went on the bill for Joe. He and Ruth Jane laughed with the rest and never tried to call a halt. They had more fun than anybody.

What was the bill? Well, that's something only the newlyweds know ...and they're not giving the bellers the satisfaction of knowing.

One of the highlights of the celebration came when they piled the bride and groom into a pickup truck and took them for a noisy ride over the streets of New Holland.

The bellers were about evenly divided between residents of Washington C. H. and the New Holland community.

Mrs. Bryan was the smiling secretary-receptionist for the officers and one-woman information bureau at the First National Bank here before her marriage.

Prison Faces Judith Coplon; Russian Pal To Be Deported

NEW YORK, Mar. 9—(AP)—Judith Coplon was sentenced to 15 years in prison today for plotting to spy for Russia. Her ex-pal, Russian engineer Valentin A. Gubitchev received a 15 years suspended sentence and was ordered deported to the Soviet Union within two weeks.

The deportation order for the 33-year-old, short, dour-faced Russian was recommended by the government as a result of conferences between the state department and the attorney general's office.

Federal Judge Sylvester J. Ryan sentenced brunette little Miss Coplon to five years on an espionage charge and 5 years on a count of attempted conspiracy, the sentences to run concurrently.

He specified that the term imposed might not be served concurrently with a sentence of 40 months to 10 years she received in Washington, D. C., on kindred charges.

Release Refused

The judge refused an application to release her in bail.

Samuel A. Neuberger, attorney for the 28-year-old Miss Coplon, said he would file notice of appeal immediately.

Miss Coplon could have received 23 years in prison and a $10,000 fine. Gubitchev faced a maximum of 15 years in jail and $20,000 fines.

Gas Cut Down In North Ohio

CLEVELAND, March 9—(AP)—An almost complete shut-off of industrial gas to five counties was ordered by the East Ohio Gas Co. today as a new cold wave swept into the state.

Counties affected were Cuyahoga, Stark, Summit, Mahoning and Tuscarawas.

Supplies to industrial plants were cut to 50 per cent last night and then reduced this morning to bare amounts needed to prevent damage to equipment.

The gas company order followed weather forecasts of northern Ohio temperatures ranging down to 10 today. The high in the area today was expected to be about 16.

Roasted Cat Needed All Nine Lives

MINERVA, March 9—(AP)—An ordinary cat which emerged singed, thirsty but alive after 36 hours in a fiery kiln was an object of scientific interest today.

Dr. William Orr, the veterinarian in this Stark-Carroll County village, exclaimed, "It's a strange case that wouldn't happen again in 100 years. The animal's (foot) pads were burned off, the top of its skull was scorched, the end of its nose was charred and its body was burned as dry as a cracker when it was brought to me."

Dr. Orr pumped food into the baked puss' veins after putting the cat under sedatives. Today, it was jumping into his lap to be fed.

The cat was sealed accidentally in a kiln at the Metropolitan brick Co. plant here Friday night. Temperature in the oven reached 900 degrees Fahrenheit. When the kiln was opened Sunday, the durable feline tottered out before the astonished eyes of workers.

The veterinarian said he investigated the case carefully yesterday with plant Superintendent

Joe Bucola and both agreed that any other explanation was out of the question—the animal had stood the heat for a day and a half and had survived.

Bucola said no part of the kiln could have had a temperature of less than 400 degrees. Workmen doubted if the cat could have found a cooler than 600 degrees.

"It's fantastic but true," Dr. Orr declared, "I intend to write to the American Veterinary Medical Association to find out if there are any records of similar occurrences."

Most of the men have been without work for some time. About 100 families live in the area.

Phoenix, Ariz., Mar. 9—(AP)—Nearly 100 starving children are eating their first nourishing meal in many weeks at a migratory workers camp near here today, thanks to a kindly judge.

Food boxes and medicine were sent to the area yesterday on orders of Superior Judge Thomas J. Croaff, juvenile court jurist, shortly after the situation was first disclosed.

Judge Croaff said children were found with distended abdomens. A family with six children ranging from 17 months to 11 years said it had been without food for 10 days and a crippled father told investigators he had sold a pint of blood to obtain food for his six children.

A report on the camp, 14 miles west of Phoenix, revealed many other families were subsisting on flour and water biscuits and lard gravy.

Who Really Won In Recent Coal Strike?

Rank and file coal miners in seemingly large numbers celebrated a "victory" in the coal strike. They joyously proclaimed that they had won again, or rather that their hero, John L. Lewis, had won for them again. It is obvious that if there was any victory at all it was on the side of the miners, for the public and the operators were losers. But what did the miners win?

They won a contract; it was as though that were what they were fighting for. But they could have had a contract at any time in the previous nine or ten months, without a strike. They won a wage increase and an increase in the pension fund royalty which will total about $1.40 a day, assuming that the pension fund will not be squandered but will survive to help the miners now back in the pits. There are no other "victories" in their contract.

So they now have $1.40 more a day. On the basis of that figure, a miner must work ten days under the new contract to make up with his $1.40 gain the $14 pay for each day he lost in the strikes, "holidays" and shortened work weeks in the fight for the new contract. This takes no account of pension fund royalties lost in the stoppages. Suppose a miner works 200 days a year for the maximum life of the new contract. That's 500 days. At a gain of $1.40 a day he will then have made up for 50 days' pay lost in the dispute. Few if any soft coal miners can say that they lost no more than 50 day's work from the beginning of the stabilizing stoppage last June to the resumption of normal work in March.

So what did the miners win? The answer escapes the outside observer. Meantime the public probably will pay the bill for the increase. The only real winner seems to be John L. Lewis personally.

Modern Lances

The modern man has his lance. He no longer must carry it tiresomely on his saddle, or depend on the muscles of his arm and shoulder to hold it at thrust while he charges. He has it mounted on the hood of his automobile.

Automobiles used to have exposed radiator caps, which sometimes were topped by eye-catching ornaments. A few minutes devoted to examination of these ornaments, in the course of a walk along a space where a number of automobiles are parked, will reveal that many of them are excellent and effective lance heads. Some are blunt or rounded, others slender and pointed; some have blades like knives, others have barbs like a gaff. Almost every one, driven with the speed and weight of the automobile to which it is attached, can with great ease gouge or penetrate the human body at any point of impact.

Moreover they are doing just that with increasing frequency. The National Safety Council has long campaigned against such radiator ornaments, because they increase the possibility of death or permanent injury to a person struck by a car. Now police in many places are becoming more concerned, because of the number of persons who actually are killed or seriously hurt by these lethal gadgets.

Couldn't we get along without these power-driven lances?

It appears improbable that members of the nursery set develop a frustration complex over the modern indestructible toys.

"Pop works hard for his money—and you have to go and waste it on stuff like that!"

Diet and Health Operation Delicate During Pregnancy

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

HEMORRHAGE into the stomach is a serious condition accompanied by the signs of prostration—weakness, dizziness, sweating, restlessness, thirst, and shortness of breath. There are also symptoms of shock such as rapid pulse, low blood pressure, and below-normal temperatures, which frequently come on in marked or severe degree shortly after the vomiting of a sizable quantity of blood.

Possible sources of such bleeding are numerous, but eight times out of ten ulcer of the stomach is to blame. Less frequently, the blood may come from enlarged veins near the end of the esophagus, or from a tumor in any part of the digestive tract. As a matter of fact, any inflammation in this region which has caused destruction of tissue can bring about bleeding, as for example, tuberculosis or syphilis.

Source of Bleeding

Regardless of the source of the bleeding, treatment is the same and must always aim to take advantage of Nature's methods of controlling bleeding. In general, this means that nothing must be done to interfere with the formation of a clot at the point of bleeding. The patient is kept at complete rest in bed, and all irritating foods avoided. Usually, a diet made up of a gelatine mixture best serves this purpose. It is given around the clock every two hours in six-ounce portions. After the fifth day, soft-boiled or poached egg, cereals, custards, and ice cream are added. A diet free from roughage or irritating foods is used. Water is given only after the fourth or fifth day and then only in moderate quantity. The patient should be kept warm, and sedatives or quieting drugs employed if necessary.

Tests of the clotting time of the blood are made, and if the blood clots too slowly, substances which speed up the clotting time are used.

Severe Cases

Whole plasma or injections of blood plasma into a vein are not used for the first ten days, except in very severe cases. Thereafter they can be utilized as needed. Mineral oil is given every night after the second night. About two weeks after the condition has developed, X-ray examinations are carried out to aid in establishing the source of the trouble.

When seeds are sown, the sower should have a definite idea about how long each kind should take to come up. This cannot be told to the hour, or even the day. Among flower seeds different kinds may vary in germination time from 5 to 10 days for marigolds, to 180 days for aconite, or a full year for clematis. Many a supposed failure with flower seeds is due to lack of information on this important point. Seeds may be sown, and when they fail to appear in a week or two, be given up for lost; when all that was required for success was another few days, weeks or months of waiting.

Seeds are tested for germination in laboratories, where conditions as to temperature, moisture, light and air can be controlled. The table which accompanies this article was obtained from laboratory experience. In the garden, allowance must be made for adverse factors which cannot be controlled and which may delay germination.

Keep the accompanying table, if you plan to sow seeds this spring. You will find it useful in many ways. When several varieties are sown in the same seed box, they should all have approximately the same germination period; so growth will be even, and when the time comes to transplant them, all can be moved. Otherwise, slow growing kinds may be seriously injured when faster growing neighbors are lifted from the soil.

Stray Dog Sale Meets Opposition

MIDDLETOWN, March 9 —(AP)—Butler County commissioners today are reconsidering their plan to sell stray dogs to an Indiana firm for experimental purposes. The commissioners thought $1 a head for the dogs would save them the cost of running a dog pound and provide some revenue. But Henry Riddle, humane society officer, protested vigorously. He said he had received nearly a dozen complaints. He said he thought the sale of the dogs would be illegal.

Scoop Opera by College Girls Is Given High 'Snooper' Rating

PENN YAN, N. Y.—The tears drop! Sobbing, brave Georgia Smith decides once more that she must put an end to Walter Banning's mad love for her sister Imogene. Or must she? Imogene has just taken poison—there is that mysterious letter Imogene found, and—

But if you could tune in at 7:15 any Wednesday night over WKCS, the Keuka College radio station, you'd hear "Georgia Faces Strife", a 15 minute satirical soap opera presented by the Keuka students of the college radio shop.

WKCS is a wired radio facility covering only the college buildings, hence the public has no opportunity to thrill to Georgia's trials and tribulations. But most radios in the college buildings are sure to ignore the four major networks and be turned in on "Georgia Faces Strife" each Wednesday evening. It is the most popular program ever to originate over the college station.

The story deals with the troubles of Georgia Smith (age unknown-but old enough to have tasted many of life's bitter pills), profession (unknown—there just hasn't been any necessity for that yet, her creators say), her sister Imogene, and Imogene's husband, Walter Banning (age, profession and background unknown as yet).

It seems that Georgia and Walter were former lovers but their love affair was broken up when Walter was wounded during the war (one wonders if he was shot in the back), and believing he would be crippled for life, broke the engagement. But he wasn't crippled for life, so he married Imogene (figure that one out!) and now Imogene suspects that Georgia and Walter are reviving their faded romance, and thus complications arise again and again.

Georgia's "jams" are not only complicated, but diversified. To achieve this sort of plot the script is written by a different student each week. Thus, left "cliff-hanging" at the end of each episode, the next script writer must rescue Georgia and launch her into another dilemma.

The satire started with a script written by Mildred Levitt of Pittsfield, Mass., in the radio script-writing class conducted by Prof. Charles L. Wallis of the department of English. Students in the class were so amused they decided to try it out over the college radio station. It was an immediate hit.

Ruth Machlin, senior, from Brooklyn, plays Georgia. Claire Lamb, junior, from Lake Clair, N. Y., plays Walter and Doris Brooks, senior of Cambria Heights, N. Y., takes the part of Imogene. According to Barbara Vorsanger of Englewood, N. J., program manager of WKCS, "Georgia Faces Strife" has a "Snooper Rating" of 74 per cent of the students in dormitories. A "Snooper Rating" is determined by snoopers going through the dormitories and checking on the number of students listening to the program.

Miss Levitt first got the idea for Georgia, when trying to think up an idea for the class assignment in script-writing. "I turned on the radio," she said, "thinking that an idea might turn up and out came a soap opera. So I sat down and wrote the first episode of "Georgia Faces Strife."

The Nation Today

By JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON, March 9—(AP)—Alaska and Hawaii have moved a step nearer statehood. That doesn't mean they'll get it, at least this year.

In a week's time the House has okayed statehood for both of them. Unless the Senate also approves, and it may not, the House action means nothing.

Next year there'll be a new Congress. And, in a new Congress, what either House did in a previous Congress doesn't count.

In that case, the two territories will have to start from scratch again. Both have been seeking statehood a long time. Here's the story on both.

The U. S. bought Alaska from Russia in 1867 for $7,200,000. It wasn't allowed to become a territory until 1912.

A territory can elect its own legislature but the president appoints the governor.

Alaska and Hawaii are each allowed one delegate in Congress. But he can't vote, even when Congress is passing laws affecting his territory.

The people in a territory pay all the federal taxes but, although they're U. S. citizens, they can't vote in a national election.

The U. S. annexed Hawaii, which was then a republic, in 1898 and made it a territory in 1900.

Alaska, twice the size of Texas with its 585,000 square miles, has a population of about 100,000 people, which is more than many of the present states had when they were admitted to the union.

Hawaii, made up of seven islands with an area of about 6,400 square miles, has a population of 540,000 of which 86 percent are U. S. citizens.

Hawaii's principal industries are sugar, pineapples, cattle, dairy products, truck crops, fish, coffee. Alaska's chief industries are fur, lumber, mining, fishing.

The people in both territories have voted in favor of statehood. Congressional committees have investigated the problem. The Democratic and Republican parties have promised statehood for both territories in their party platforms. The president approves.

Real pressure to get the job done began in the middle 1930's. First real action came in 1947. In that year the House voted to let Hawaii come in. The Senate has never voted. So nothing happened.

This year the House now has voted for Hawaii again and, for the first time, for Alaska, too.

The people in both territories argue along similar lines:

They've more than served their apprenticeship as territories. They're both mature in the experience of running their territorial affairs, but, nevertheless, Congress really runs them, and makes laws for them. Yet, the people in those territories have no voice in shaping those laws.

Although the residents of the territories have to pay federal taxes, they don't receive the full benefits from federal laws that states get. In short, both say they no longer want to be considered colonies.

In addition, they argue that statehood would strengthen this country's hand in the Pacific. Hawaii is 2,000 miles out in the Pacific from California. Alaska is separated from Russia by only 55 miles of water.

Some of the congressmen opposed to statehood for Alaska and Hawaii argue this way:

If admitted, Alaska and Hawaii would have two senators each, since every state has two senators. In addition, Hawaii would be entitled, because of its 540,000 population, two representatives in the House. Alaska, with 100,000 population, would have one representative in the House.

In their local elections, about 100,000 Hawaiian residents vote.

In Alaska the vote is about 20,000. Therefore, Alaska would have two senators representing only 20,000 voters whereas states with millions of voters are allowed only two senators.

Farm Price Support Program Investments Keep on Soaring

WASHINGTON, March 9—(AP)—$2,000,000,000 increase in Commodity Credit Corporation funds was approved 17 to 2 by the House banking committee today.

The boost was approved on request of Secretary of Agriculture Brannan. Brannan told the committee government investments in the farm price support program may rise from $8,600,000,000, as of last Dec. 31, to a high of $6,300,000,000 by June 30, 1951.

Under the new bill the borrowing power of the CCC is increased from $4,750,000,000 to $6,750,000,000.

The CCC supports farm prices by loans or purchases that remove price-depressing surpluses of various crops from the market.

The committee rejected a proposed amendment to the new bill that would have required use of privately-owned storage for commodities, in preference to government-supplied storage facilities.

In requesting the new legislation, Brannan told the committee farm prices have dropped 23 percent since 1948, while prices paid by farmers for the things they use have declined only 3 percent.

He said farm income may drop to 30 percent below 1948.

With normal yields he said CCC investments in price supports may reach $5,300,000,000 after the present crop year, but with bumper crops the figure may go to $6,300,000,000.

Worker Draft Set for Paris

PARIS, March 9—(AP)—Premier George Bidault's government ordered the draft of 100,000 public utility workers today to avert a nationwide gas and electricity stoppage threatening on the crest of France's worst strike wave in three years.

Workers in the nationalized power plants had been scheduled to walk out at midnight. Both communist and non-communist unions voted the strike to back up demands for wage increases.

The civilian draft order—to be served upon the workers by policemen—makes those who refuse to work subject to loss of their jobs, fines and from six days to five years in jail.

Paris limped along in the third day of a transportation strike which partially tied up the city, muddling the subway, bus and streetcar systems. Large numbers of taxis and 3,000 buses manned by the army helped to keep things moving in France's first city.

Housework Easy Without Nagging Backache

As we get older, stress and strain, over-exertion, excessive smoking or exposure to cold sometimes slows down kidney function. This may lead many folks to complain of nagging backache, loss of pep and energy, headaches and dizziness. Getting up nights or frequent passages may result from minor bladder irritations due to cold, dampness or dietary indiscretions. If your discomforts are due to these causes, don't wait, try Doan's Pills, a mild diuretic. Used successfully by millions for over 50 years. While these symptoms may often otherwise occur, it's amazing how many times Doan's give happy relief—help the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters flush out waste. Get Doan's Pills today!

Guest speaker for the evening will be Glenn Lackey of Delaware, fourth national vice president. Lackey has recently returned to his home after attending a national officers meeting.

Invitations have been sent out to parents of youths enrolled in the FFA chapter here, businessmen, members of the city board of education and civic leaders.

Gordon Ryder, chapter advisor and instructor of the vocational agricultural class at the high school here, said a crowd of 120 persons is expected to turn out for the banquet.

The FFA chapter here was completed last year and has already completed several projects.

Legion Auxiliary Has Mr. Bitzer As Guest Speaker

The regular meeting of the American Legion Auxiliary was held Wednesday evening in the Legion Hall with the president Mrs. Michael Helfrich opening the business session in ritualistic form.

The secretary's report was given by Mrs. Edward Sexton and Mrs. Robert Creamer gave the treasurer's report.

Reports of the standing committees were heard, and Mrs. Charlene Malone re-habilitation chairman outlined plans for the usual monthly visit to the Chillicothe Veteran's Hospital on Tuesday, March 21.

A discussion was held on the plans for the thirty-first birthday anniversary of the Paul H. Hughey Post of the American Legion which will be an event of late March.

The committees appointed by the president for the dinner were Mrs. Ray Mershon, chairman of food; Mrs. Robert Creamer, chairman of entertainment.

Mrs. Emerson Chapman, community service chairman, spoke briefly and outlined the part the Auxiliary plays in serving the community generally, and introduced Mr. Willard Bitzer, member of the operating board of the new Fayette County Memorial Hospital, who spoke to the members on the duties of the various boards functioning in the completion of the hospital under the direction of the Fayette County Commissioners.

Mr. Bitzer graciously answered the many questions of the members on various phases of the operating of the hospital. Following his much appreciated talk, a social hour followed. Tempting refreshments carrying out a clever St. Patrick's Day theme were served by Mrs. Robert Olinger, chairman.

Joan Crawford's Kids Unspoiled

By ARMAND ARCHERD
Central Press Correspondent
HOLLYWOOD—Do movie stars spoil their children? You'd think so. The stars, themselves, cannot help being spoiled by the huge entourage of studio employees who constantly flatter or "yes" them.

We have chosen as our "guinea pig" Joan Crawford. First of all, she is a star in the full meaning of the word. To make the test harder, Joan was chosen because her four children are adopted. Certainly the parent of an adopted child would be more wont to spare the rod and spoil the child.

The four Crawford children are: Christina, 10; Christopher, 7, and the twins, Cathy and Cynthia, aged 3. The older children know they are adopted and the twins will know when they reach the age of reason.

No special schools were chosen for the two. Both attended the public school of the neighborhood. Recently, as a punitive measure, Christina was sent to boarding school. When Momma Crawford decides the effect has been accomplished "Tina may rejoin her brother in the public school."

So, right now, Christopher is the man of the house. And he enjoys it. However, when he steps out of line, Joan is quick to let him know it. Should he forget a "thank you" or a "sir," Momma reminds Chris who he is.

SURE, THEY know that Joan is a movie star. But they do not as yet comprehend what that means. So far as Chris is concerned, Hopalong is his favorite. And second to Mommy, Dale Evans "comes next."

They are not being trained to be movie stars—as one might think. They take piano lessons and read poetry and sing songs to Mommy as surprises. But there is no Shakespeare or Stanislavsky method being rammed down their throats.

What about discipline, I asked Joan. "Do you spank 'em when they get out of line? "Sure, and I do it myself!"

The Crawfords live in a large home. (She bought it in 1929 and remodels it from time to time but probably holds a Hollywood record for living in the same house for so long.) In help, Joan has a cook, butler, gardener and nurse for the twins.

All the children have their chores. Yes, even the twins are being given theirs and soon will be as self-sufficient as their brother and sister. And when I say chores, I don't mean brushing their teeth and washing behind the ears.

THEY DO their own dishes, make their own beds, clean their rooms and scrub the floors of their bedrooms and bath. Joan indoctrinated them in these routines as soon as they were able. She's been the most fortunate, for, let us face it, the average actress has no idea how long her popularity will last! One wonders how a star like Joan would get any time with the children. The routine is a little frightening. But she is an amazing gal and continually flabbergasts people by her ability to conduct three and four things simultaneously.

During a film, she rises at 5:30 a. m., prepares the menu for the children's day. She cooks her own breakfast at the studio and if she realizes she will not be home before their bedtime, calls and speaks to each one on the phone. If minor crises arise during a film day, it's not uncommon to see her whip off the set and head home, then return a little later.

Joan reserves week-ends for the family. There are few exceptions to this rule. They are allowed to have company visit them at this time. She supervises but does not interfere with these gatherings. She will often pick up a carload of kids and take them all to the neighborhood Bay theater in the Pacific Palisades. (What courage!) Or she will show a Disney film in the home projection room.

THEY ARE permitted television. However, if Christopher and Christina wish to see different programs which are on at the same time, well, Joan has made them agree that one of them will see the first half of the program and the other, the finale of his favorite show. They accept this.

How about religion? Joan supervises this also and has taught them all their prayers and reads with them.

Her dressing room is the meeting hall. They will often set up their tables there so they can spend every minute with her when she returns from work.

Perhaps you are beginning to wonder if Joan isn't going too far and being over-strict and omitting love. But this thought was quickly erased from my mind.

The three-year-old twins heard that Mommy was going to take a bath—they dashed upstairs, ran the bath, and then, I was told, rushed back to ask Mommy if they could bring their toys to play in the tub with her.

Christina is so in love with her Mommy that she is actually speechless when Joan is about.

And Chris—well he's just a pixie. He sends her love notes all the time. Sometimes she'll discover one in the typewriter. Others are pasted on her mirror so she'll see them when she combs her hair in the morning. But his favorite hiding place is under her pillow.

Well, the Crawford crowd isn't spoiled. As for the rest of Hollywood, I guess they average out like yours and mine.

Drive for Quick Japan Treaty Gets Backing by Philippines

By FRANK L. WHITE
MANILA, March 9—(P)—General MacArthur wants a peace treaty with Japan before this spring runs out. He may get it, after all.

This possibility took an upturn with President Quirino's sudden announcement that the Philippines are ready for an early signing of a treaty.

At the same time the Filipino executive disclosed he had offered Manila as the site for a peace conference.

Quirino's surprise move was interpreted here as an indication the treaty writing may not be far off. So far, the Soviet Union and the western allies have been unable to agree even on what nations should be at a peace conference. Of late, however, there has been a good deal of speculation in Japan and in the United States that a treaty may be written without Russia unless the Soviets change their attitude.

MacArthur wants the peace conference in Japan. High allied authorities told this correspondent in Tokyo last November that the occupation commander felt this way:

By having the conference in Tokyo the treaty makers would be able to eliminate many problems of international politics which have prevented signing of treaties ending the European phase of World War II.

Some Opposition

MacArthur's choice of Japan, it is known reliably, is opposed by some nations represented on the Far Eastern Commission (FEC) and by some high authorities in the U. S. as well.

The general in brief in Manila is that Quirino's sudden offer of Manila was inspired by American sources. There is no way of determining where the inspiration came from, but here are two possibilities:

From MacArthur—as an alternate to Tokyo which still would keep the treaty writing in the far east and away from European problems.

From the U. S. state department—which has indicated it looks with disfavor on a Japanese site.

The Philippines president disclosed his desire for an early peace conference in Manila informally—almost casually. It came while talking with a group at a Malacanang Palace cocktail party for the Rev. Manuel Suarez, master-general of the dominican order, who was visiting Manila.

For several weeks before, however, high Philippine officials had been conferring two or three times weekly to outline their government's position toward a treaty. They have arrived at concrete decisions but have not made them public.

Four Main Points

1. Opposition to any treaty which would permit Japan's revival to a point where she again could become a threat to eastern Asia.

4. Acceptance of Japan into the community of nations only after assurance that she has been fully democratized.

3. Refusal to accept Japanese participation in international conferences until a peace treaty is signed.

4. Continuation of reparations payments for war damages. It was expected here that Quirino's announcement might be followed by developments from other sources.

For one thing, it came on the heels of a reported agreement of U. S. far eastern diplomats at the recent Bangkok conference that three would be little opposition by Asian countries to an early Japanese peace. For another, the British elections are out of the way.

One stumbling block to quick action may remain—or it may have been removed when the U. S. joint chiefs of staff made their visit to MacArthur.

How to maintain the Japanese constitutional renunciation of force as an instrument of policy in the face of communism's militant march in the far east?

MacArthur has sent up a couple of trial balloons on this question. One suggested Japan might negotiate a treaty giving the U. S. bases there. The other advanced the idea that the constitution does not preclude maintenance of a force by Japan sufficient to defend her shores against aggression.

It is known that some American military authorities see nothing to be gained now by signing a Japanese peace treaty which might jeopardize the American defense position in the Pacific. U. S. occupation forces in Japan are the bulwark of a defense line running from Alaska to Australia.

Failure To Pay Tax Called Legal Test

CLEVELAND, March 9—(P)—Fred N. Acker, 53-year-old lawyer, who cites principle in not paying his income tax, has been charged by the government with failing to file a return for 1946.

He is accused of making $22,303.68 that year and owing $6,198.15 in taxes. Acker has been released under $3,500 bond and probably will be brought before Federal Judge Emerich B. Freed shortly.

Acker insists he deliberately let his tax returns slide since 1943 so a complaint would be returned against him. He says he wants "to test the constitutionality of the federal income tax law in the only way I believe this question can be effectively raised."

Twin Waterfalls Rarely Seen By Tourists Sight of Beauty

By ALDERMAN DUNCAN
WALHALLA, S. C.—Twin waterfalls, each higher than Niagara, spill down Blue Ridge Mountain fastnesses along the North Carolina—South Carolina border but surprisingly few people ever view their beauty. Not many more people know they even exist.

The falls, described by a U. S. Forest Service official as "the most spectacular in the Appalachians," are secluded in a remote section not accessible to the average traveler.

The falls are on the Whitewater River, which flows from North Carolina's Nantahala National Forest into South Carolina's Keowee River. The upper falls are about one mile north of the state line. The lower falls, three miles down the Whitewater's steep rapids, are well inside this state and are included in the Gen Pickens division of the Sumter National Forest.

Both falls are more than 100 feet higher than Niagara. Their exact height is not known but Forest Service contour maps show the lower falls to be approximately 280 feet high and the upper falls possibly may be higher. Niagara Falls' top height is 167 feet.

The lower falls may be reached by a one-quarter mile hike from a small lodge at the end of an abandoned road, or trail, leading 10 miles away. The upper falls are reached by a mountain road from Cashiers in Jackson County N. C.

Besides being hard to reach, the falls probably also have been neglected because they were for many years on property of a marginal lumber company. The area only recently has been acquired by the Forest Service, which still is running preliminary surveys.

Residents hereabouts long have known of the wonderful fishing in the Whitewater. Native brook and rainbow trout are reported abundant. General knowledge of the falls goes back to at least 1826. They were described then by Robert Mills, noted South Carolina architect who also was

LOSES 57 LBS. RENNEL BENEFITS OHIO LADY

"I am telling my friends about Renne Concentrate since it has done wonders for me," writes Miss Dalia Berry, 745 Pennsylvania Ave., Columbus 3, Ohio. "When I started taking Renne I weighed 227 lbs. and now my weight is 170 lbs. I am still taking Renne, and will do so until my weight is where I want it to be."

It's simple. It's amazing, how quickly one may lose pounds of bulky, unsightly fat right in your own home. Make this recipe yourself. It's easy—no trouble at all and costs little. It contains nothing harmful. Just go to your drugstore and ask for four ounces of liquid Renne Concentrate. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill the bottle. Then take two tablespoonsful twice a day. That's all there is to it. If the very first bottle doesn't show the simple, easy way to lose pounds of bulky fat and help regain slender more youthful curves—if reducible excess fat doesn't seem to disappear almost like magic just return the empty bottle to the manufacturer for your money back. Note how quickly blot disappears—how much better you feel. More alive, youthful appearing and active. Insist on genuine Renne.

Civil War in China Accepted With Typical Calm by Chinese In Chinatowns of America

(By The Associated Press)
Chinatown, U.S.A., seems to be riding out the war in China with traditional calm and poise.

Red China or Nationalist China, the Chinese in their two typical American communities, San Francisco and New York, display little excitement over the changing role in their homeland.

In San Francisco, which has the biggest Chinatown, there is little indication among the 20,000 Chinese crowded along Grant Avenue that they feel a great pressure to decide one way or another about Mao Tse-tung.

Such support as does exist in this country for the Chinese communists appears to be more pronounced in New York than in San Francisco. New York has two pro-leftist Chinese papers, and they make no secret of it. However, the editors deny any official link with the Communists.

The nearest thing to a pro-leftist Chinese paper in San Francisco is a former Catholic daily, the Chung Sai Yat Po, acquired recently by a Chinatown drugstore owner. It prints pictures of Indo-Chinese Communist leader Ho Chi Minh alongside those of Ingrid Bergman.

Cool Toward Chiang
While there is no great support for Mao, San Francisco Chinese still never felt the same way about Chiang Kai-Shek's nationalist government as they did about Dr. Sun Yat-sen. They used to contribute heavily to the founder of the Republic. Only during the war against Japan did they send much to Chiang.

George Jue, president of the Chinese Chamber of Commerce in the West Coast city, recently visited Red China and didn't like it. He says America ought to prevent the Reds from taking Formosa but he is no admirer of the former Nationalist government on the mainland. What China needs, he says, is a government as honest as the Reds and as liberal as the Kuomintang.

Last Oct. 10, Nationalist China's Independence Day, there was a little to-do in San Francisco Chinatown. A workers' association meeting was broken up by some young men who tossed blue powder around the hall. Blue is the Kuomintang color.

Don't Like Change
At first, this was thought to reflect the war in China, but informed Chinese now say the boys got the idea from one of the oldest and most conservative Tongs in town. Said one Chinese: "They just don't like the idea of any change, and would have kicked the boys on a pro-Kuomintang meeting just as quickly."

Both Chinese papers which support the Nationalists—the Kuo Min Yat Po and the Young China Daily, have shrunk in pages and circulation. The oldest and largest daily in San Francisco's Chinatown—the Chinese World—was increasingly critical of Chiang after the war but is now also critical of Mao.

New York has seen 6,000 and 7,000 crowded along Mott St. Shavey Lee, so-called 'mayor' of the Chinatown there, says "99 per cent" of the local inhabitants are against the Communists.

"About 85 or 90 per cent," he says, "favor the Kai-Shek government. Most of the rest are indifferent but yet they don't favor the Reds. Kai-Shek, himself, is still an idol here but many didn't like the corruption in his government."

Troubles Back Home
Gilbert Moy, secretary of the Chinese Benevolent Association, concurred. He says when local Chinese get mail from home, they hear about heavy assessments in rice and money imposed on the towns and villages. Mail which gets out uncensored by way of Hong Kong, Moy says, carries more dire reports, of looting and stealing by Red Soldiers.

Chinatown, New York, has four papers. Two—the Chinese Journal and the Chinese Nationalist Daily—support the Nationalists. The China Daily News and the China Tribune favor Mao.

Chu Tong, editor of the News, says: "There are two kinds of Chinese in this country. The first are those living and working here. The second are the high-class refugees who made their money by graft in China and came here to spend it. The second group, of course, favors the Nationalists."

"The first group is confused about the new government. What with the Red hysteria here and the newness of the government there, they don't know what to believe. They hated the corruption under Chiang. That's definite. The trend now is toward supporting the new government if it's stabilized."

"This, too, is definite: Kai-Shek is through because he has lost the support of the people. The new government has that support."

Old Circus Bear Is Happy in Zoo

Security of Fence
Really Appreciated

By ELLIOTT CHAZE
DENVER—You hear a lot of talk about the importance of security these days. But here's a new definition for it: security is a thing that keeps a polar bear from jumping a four-foot fence.

This polar bear's name is Velox and back in her flapper days she used to climb ladders and balance her 500 pounds of ivory-furred charm on red-painted stools.

Back there she worked for Ringling Brothers, travelling the country in a crate, her fur all gummed up with soot half the time, and there were always more towns ahead, more ladders and stools.

Now, at 17, she's a quiet white-haired old lady with permanent residence at Denver's City zoo. She's almost blind and it takes her an average of two minutes to find a bright yellow jellybean thrown directly beneath her. But she's completely happy, living on the side of her concrete mountain, chomping up some 20 pounds of horsemeat daily and taking an occasional dip in her private moat.

Zoo superintendent Clyde Hill, boss of the City Park animals for almost three decades, considers Velox one of the most remarkable creatures of his experience. "Polar bears can bound around like cats," he says. "But we hem Velox in with iron pickets four-feet high and she wouldn't climb them on a bet."

The pickets are tilted inward. At one point a stone bridge crosses the moat and comes to a dead end against the fence. A trip over the barrier would probably cost Velox nothing more than an ounce of hide. Hill is certain, however, that she is not a captive to her own cowardice. He puts it this way:

"Talk about security: she's got it. And she appreciates it. When she came to us in 1941 she was getting too slow for her circus act, so they sold her to us. From the start I knew she was an educated, polite lady, and I've treated her like one."

A few years ago Hill decided that in view of Velox's kindly nature he'd put a sea-lion by name of Commodore in the enclosure with her. For almost a year Commodore bullied the seven-foot-tall Velox shamelessly, stealing her food, and as time passed he even began barking at her and biting her on the hind leg.

One sunny Sunday afternoon Velox tired of it and swatted the Commodore behind the ears, gauging her swing by the smell and sound of him. She swatted him conclusively and thereafter ignored his body, even when it was being removed by attendants.

The only mean thing she ever does to the people who come to gawk at her is perhaps the product of her humor. There's a red-and-black striped hose that fills her pool and sometimes her keepers leave the hose running in the moat. She likes to dive for it, come up with it in her teeth, and squirt it on people.

Says Hill in her defense: "I believe she thinks they like it." Hill, a veteran student of polar bears, says they're the most misunderstood of all animals: "The idea that they have to sit around in a mess of snow and ice is ridiculous. They can stand more sun and heat than a black bear. I've seen Velox lie all day under a pounding sun. But, of course, she's just as comfortable in ice-water."

Stars in Business Now Prove Find Glamor Doesn't Hurt a Bit in New Fields

Dorothy Lamour is in business designing sarong-type gowns.

By ARMAND ARCHERD
Central Press Correspondent
HOLLYWOOD—Gone are the days when the screen's glamor gals rode about in limousines drawn by teams of Afghan hounds. As a matter of fact, today's beauties are lucky if they own their own cars outright. And at each premiere there is an obvious rush on the fur rental headquarters. The reason: income taxes.

In order to insure a comfortable future after their beauty and fabulous salaries are gone, these girls insist on contradicting the "beautiful but dumb" saying. Many of them are, in their private lives, successful business women.

They aren't doing it for publicity. It's strictly business with them, and in most cases their performances before buyers or customers would gain them screen Oscars.

Many of the girls have teamed up with their husbands to enter the business world. And I'm sure the boys would be the first to admit that the addition of glamor doesn't hurt a bit.

Frances Langford and her actor-husband, Jon Hall, are in the flying business in a big way. They operate a flight school, sell planes, equipment and accessories and arrange charter parties to any point in the country.

Betty Hutton is another who has entered the commercial field with her husband. She is vice-president and treasurer (you can see how smart she is!) of a camera corporation of which her husband, Ted Brislin, is president. If the vivacious Betty were to sell the cameras personally, you know as well as I that sales resistance would be nil!

AS MIGHT be expected from movie stars, a few out-of-the-ordinary enterprises would be attempted. Anne Baxter is in one such business. She raises orchids. She went into this business when her mother, Mrs. Kenneth Baxter, acquired property in Atherton, Cal.

A large hot house, constructed especially for the growing of orchids, went with the deal. So Anne decided to put it to use. She herself, is not a good saleswoman for the flowers for she confides she doesn't like to see orchids worn as corsages—"they're far too beautiful."

Betty Grable has made quite a success of her racing stable. She and husband Harry James are permanent fixtures at the southern California tracks during the racing season. Betty even arranges the shooting schedules of her films so that she is in front of the cameras between racing seasons.

A year ago Maureen O'Hara, who fits into her own dresses so beautifully, decided to open a retail dress shop in the San Fernando Valley. This year she is readying her second shop.

Maureen has bigger plans. She tells us that when her present contracts expire she will set up an importing company to bring Irish linens to this country.

IT WAS INEVITABLE that Esther Williams enter the bathing suit business.

Ever since Esther became a national swimming champion in 1939, she has constantly been approached by manufacturers to endorse a suit. Obviously, every girl in the country would like to look like Esther in a bathing suit.

She not only puts her name on the product, but helps in the design, construction, selection of material, and also—and very important—shares in the profits.

How does a star get mixed up in a commercial venture? Sometimes they specifically look for a sound investment in which to protect and augment their savings. Sometimes it happens as an accident.

A short while back, Dorothy Lamour was vacationing at Arrowhead Hot Springs. Also visiting the spa was Sol Baum, Los Angeles dress manufacturer. They met.

Miss Lamour, who had been designing her clothes as a hobby, asked if she could show him some of her ideas? Certainly!

He was impressed far beyond his expectations, but admitted to her that these gowns were in the $400 category and certainly not for the average public. A short time later she brought in designs for inexpensive gowns. Dorothy Lamour was in business.

Night Cast for WHS Play Selected

Everything was in readiness Thursday for the WHS junior class presentation of the comedy, "The Baby Sitter" before two audiences Friday.

Two casts, which will perform in the production, had their cues memorized and were in eager anticipation of the curtain call.

Military Tests Are Expensive

Alaska War Games Also Are Profitable

By CLARKE BEACH
WASHINGTON—American taxpayers spent $1,200,000 on the recent war games in the Canadian Yukon and Alaska, in addition to the regular running expenses of the 3,110 U. S. ground and air personnel who took part. What did they get for their money?

This correspondent was there for the first week as an observer. It was time enough to see something of what the army and air force were learning. Since 1946 the military men have been working more and more on the problems of fighting and flying in the Alaska area. Since 1947 they have had occasional field tests, involving a few hundred men. These 1950 exercises, however, were the first large-scale try-outs for men and equipment.

The maneuvers proved that a large force of men could be quickly transported by air into the Arctic, ready to live and fight in frigid temperatures. A battalion (750 men) was flown from Camp Carson, Colo., a distance of 2,600 miles to Whitehorse, Canada, with all their arms, equipment, cold weather clothing and sleeping bags. Officers said it was the longest airlift of fully armed men ever attempted.

Others Go By Truck

In addition 2,000 men were transported by truck in mid-winter from the United States to Alaska over the Alaska Highway. The trip went off smoothly, without traffic tie-ups or other serious incidents. These achievements are important because they prove the feasibility of one phase of America's strategy for Alaskan defense. The U. S. plan is to garrison the territory with relatively few troops, then depend on rapid and heavy reinforcements from the States in case of trouble.

Men with no Arctic experience proved that with a few months' indoctrination they could live, fight and keep healthy in the deep snows, in temperatures ranging from 20 to 57 below zero. At the base camp they tried out the new Jamesway Shelters—a two-layer, quilted semi-cylindrical tent, insulated with fiber glass. In the field they lived in eight-sided five-man tents. The outer layer was canvas, the inner layer was nylon. An oil stove, its smokestack the tent-pole, kept the inside quite warm.

White felt snow boots got their first large scale work-out, and a sizeable number of frost-bitten feet resulted. Maneuver leaders, believed, however, that the boots were good, although they had to be worn with care. Men who were frost-bitten, they said, had failed to use the proper precautions. In that climate you must use the utmost care to see that no moisture from sweat, snow or water ever reaches the feet.

Weakness Found
Almost half of the weasels, the tracked vehicle built for Arctic use, broke down by the end of the first week. This was anticipated, however. A new type of Arctic vehicle is now being designed.

"The thing we learned the first day here," said Lieut. Col. Lloyd J. Hellmann, chief umpire, "was that good truck drivers are the key men in this kind of war."

In a region where there is only one highway and no possibility of wheeled vehicles moving off of it, a traffic tie-up could be disastrous. Hellmann pointed out that where there had been stoppages the whole battle had bogged down. Men who could skillfully handle heavy trucks on the hard packed snow were as valuable as expert marksmen.

The first performance, primarily, for students, will be held at 1:50 P. M., Friday in the high school auditorium. The other, set for the adults, will be held beginning at 8 P. M., Friday.

Directing the play is Miss Sara Keck. Plenty of humor and action are promised in the productions. The "Baby Sitting Chorus" is to sing between the acts of both performances. The numbers selected for the chorus are appropriately "Baby Face" and "I Said My Pajamas."

Wednesday afternoon the two casts performed before a group of homeroom teachers, who served as judges, to select the cast which will perform in the evening.

Teachers who assisted in picking the evening cast included Mrs. Madonna Gordon, Jack White, Miss Edith Rammage and Miss Sara Keck.

High school students who will

Mexico of Cortez Time Had Big Population

BERKELEY, Calif. —(AP)—Two University of California professors think Mexico had a big population in the time of Cortez. Their estimate is 11 million people. That compares with 13 or 14 million today. Most historians think it was under five million.

The two are Dr. Lesley Byrd Simpson and Dr. Sherburne F. Cook. They think the 1519 population of Mexico was about the same as modern Michigan, Indiana or Missouri—60 or 70 people per square mile. They worked with several historical sources to get their figures.

Children Get Help

CAIRO—(AP)—The United Nations International Children's Emergency Fund (UNICEF) announced it is extending aid to more than 200,000 Arab refugees in Southern Palestine. UNICEF reported it has allocated $9,361,000 to refugee relief in the Middle East.

have parts in the afternoon production include the following, listed with the characters they will portray: Bob, Dick Eckle; Margaret, Sharon Rettig; father, Bob Lewis; Jane, Eleanor McFadden; Helen, Lauretta Jones; Carrie, Jean Perrill; Eunice, Jean Scholl and Mrs. Gordon, Ann James.

Those who will have parts both in the afternoon and evening performances include the following: Junior, Bill Case; Carl, William Robinson; Rusty, Kenny Kline; Midge, Gaylene Wright; Dot, Mary Alice Aills and Mr. Gordon, Wendell Braden.

Students who will have parts only in the evening performance include the following: Bob, Ellis Miller; Margaret, Jane Terrell; father, Roddy Beaver; Jane, Shirley Pyle; Carrie, Kay Morter and Eunice, Dixie Lee Ellison.

A dress rehearsal of the cast which will perform in the afternoon performance Friday was held in the auditorium at 3:45 o'clock, Thursday afternoon. The cast which will perform in the evening will hold their rehearsal at 6:30 o'clock, Thursday evening.

NATURAL BRIDGE, Va. —(AP)—"Everybody says this Natural Bridge is so wonderful. Well, mebbe so, I ain't never been nowhere else," says Joseph Mitchell. He was born at Natural Bridge July 12, 1871. He began work at 10 as a stable boy, but was soon apprenticed as a gardener. He has been at it ever since.

"I guess nobody's told me to do anything in ten years. If I didn't rummage around and find something to keep busy at, I guess I'd just vegetate," he says. Asked advice on how to keep a job 68 years, he said "keep out of the boss' sight."

People Happy Living in Past

Quaint Italian City Has Medieval Look

By PHILIP CLARKE
PERUGIA, Italy—Tired of living in the present? Then take a trip to Perugia which lives in the past and loves it.

This quaint city of 90,000 high amid the hills of central Italy is like a living chapter from a history book of the Middle Ages. Time passed by and left it to dream.

Cesare Borgia, notorious son of Pope Alexander VI, was a student at Perugia's 700-year-old university. He probably still would know his way around the narrow winding cobblestone streets.

Although wearing the look of a medieval city, Perugia was more than 2,000 years old when Columbus discovered America. Roman ruins, sniff Perugians, are not so old. They proudly point out the remains of an even earlier civilization—the Etruscan—whose language still is studied in Perugia's 30-year-old "University for foreigners."

Perugia, as it was called in those days, was founded about 600 B. C. by the ancient Umbrian tribes atop a 1,000-foot ridge of hills overlooking the broad, green valley of the Tiber river. It became an Etruscan stronghold, one of the 12 confederated cities of this powerful civilization.

There are remains of once formidable walls of Perugia's great Etruscan citadel. Traffic still squeezes through a massive stone Etruscan gateway. On the slopes of hills nearby, etruscologists have dug into burial grounds and sepulchres containing treasured relics of this early civilization.

Perugia fell into Roman hands in 310 B. C. The famed Flaminia way, sections of which are still visible alongside the modern motor road, linked Perugia with Rome, 100 miles to the southwest.

Hannibal's conquering legions swept by Perugia in 217 B. C. after annihilating some 16,000 Roman soldiers near Lake Trasimeno, 25 miles northwest of the city. Peasant plows still unearth rusty weapons used in the battle.

In 41 A. D., Mark Anthony made Perugia his headquarters in a war with Octavianus, emperor of Rome. Octavianus captured and burned the city. It later was rebuilt as a Roman colony called Augusta Perusia.

Still standing is the church of San' Angelo, a circular Roman structure with 16 antique columns in the interior, built in the sixth century.

Perugia withstood the Gothic conquerors of Rome's empire for seven years before Totila captured and sacked the city late in the sixth century.

Near the center of the city stands the so-called Arch of Augustus, an ancient town gate recording the three great epochs of Perugia. The foundations date from the Etruscan period; an inscription, "Colonia Vibia Augusta Perusia," was added in 40 A. D. during the Imperial Roman epoch, and a balcony was built into the arch in the 1500's.

Perugia's basilica of Saint Peter is greatest of the 25 churches built here between the 11th and 27th centuries and still standing. It was enriched by early Roman Catholics after the city came under the power of the Popes in 1370.

The remains of two popes—Urban IV and Martin IV, both of whom died in Perugia in the 13th century—were entombed in the Cathedral of San Lorenzo. Dating from the 15th century, this magnificent Gothic cathedral contains what is known as the betrothal ring of the Virgin, shown to the faithful five times a year.

Perugia reached its zenith during the Middle Ages. Sixteen powerfully-built Gothic palaces dominate the city's principal squares. Most of them are still in use.

Pro-Communist Socialist mayor Giuseppe Mana holds forth in the huge turreted municipal palace, begun in 1297 and completed in 1423. On special occasions, a corps of guardsmen, costumed in brilliant uniforms of the Middle Ages, line the stairs and hallways.

A practical man, the mayor is plumping for a new aqueduct to replace one built centuries ago. He thinks some of the city's 2,000 unemployed could help build a new railway bridge, too, to replace the one destroyed during the last war.

Mana seems more interested in

ACHING BACKS from shoving around heavy, clumsy lawnmowers may become a thing of the past this spring when a new lightweight electric mower makes its debut on a nationwide scale. Weighing less than 45 pounds, the compact cutter contains four blades which swing scythe-like to cut a 16-inch swath of grass. (International)

ed. Also present is the chapel from the cemetery of that village.

"The churches really bring back memories," commented Rostan. "I started out there as an organist."

When the Rostans came to America they settled near Pittsburgh and soon started operating a restaurant at Langeloth, Pa. Later Rostan was the first postmaster of Slovan, Pa. Then for 25 years he operated a grocery store at Saranac Lake, N. Y.

In the miniature village, electricity lighted at night, you will find the store from Saranac Lake, built to scale as are all the buildings. There's the post office from Slovan, a town hall like Saranac's, a bank, a hotel, a shrine and various homes.

Child 3-Years-Old Drives Farm Tractor

GARDEN GROVE, Calif. — (AP)—Freddy Brugeman is an accomplished tractor driver at the age of three.

A clear-eyed, serious young chap with remarkable mechanical aptitude, he has been soloing on his father's tractor in the family orange grove for several months. Freddy began by tinkering with cars and removing the locks from doors—not always to the benefit of these devices.

The boy's father decided to divert this zest for mechanics into useful channels and taught him to plow a furrow through the orange trees.

Home Accidents Cut

CHICAGO—(AP)—Accidents in the home killed 30,500 persons in the U. S. last year. That was three per cent under the 1948 toll. The gray and graying folks, who are supposed to use the caution that comes with the passing year, had the worst record. Fatalities went down in all age groups but one—the 45 to 64 bracket.

PUBLIC FORUM

The opinions expressed in this column are those of the writers and do not necessarily reflect the views of the Record-Herald

Mr. Editor:

Anyone interested in the term "community," and who wants to see one function, and learn what makes it do so would do well to go over and make a study of our neighbor Wilmington. Those folks over there know what it's all about. All this came to mind the other day when I read about the leak in the boiler at their excellent Hotel General Denver. It was due to something even more than the very fast acting brain of the manager, who thought of the idea of bringing in the tar boiler, and setting it up in the street, with business as usual. This had a lot of the spirit of Wilmington about it.

But there is a lot over there to catch the interest of the student of community life. It is clear that those folks have great faith in each other—as well as affection. They named that hotel after one of their own boys, who grew up there, and went forth to serve in a big way, then came back to be buried there. They have a new athletic and recreation field named for another boy who lived there, and whom they came to love.

While some other communities have been wrangling more than a third of a century about a hospital, another native son set up a hospital there, and for that time they have had as fine surgical care at their finger tips as can be gained anywhere. And when they get sick that is just where they go. They have just that much faith in themselves and each other.

The story of how they operate their own utilities is a very interesting one, and is just another phase of how they run their own show in their own way, and accept what they give themselves.

Any one having a few moments to spend in Wilmington should go through their court house. Its utility is even better than its superb architecture and decoration of the pure classic type. And it matches up well with their theater, given to the town by another native son who made a national name for himself in professional athletics. This theatre, despite the fact that it is more than twenty-five years old still stands as one of the really lovely places in this part of the country.

Right down town, then, they have two large and valuable auditoriums, another being in the Court House, and they use them to advantage.

I might mention other things which have come to Wilmington through the same spirit that built the General Denver, and keeps it going despite a mechanical breakdown, but a look at the very attractive headquarters of the State Highway Patrol, not to mention the internationally known glider field, and you will see a couple more visible testimonies to a community that knows the elements of harmony in its public relations.

But to many, the Wilmington College is its outstanding triumph, and any one who has been over there this past week would be inclined to agree. They have just staged an International Folk Festival at the College, which was one of the most stupendous and well rehearsed things of its kind that any college ever attempted. In its excellence and magnitude it was such as to even make mighty Oberlin scratch its venerable Presbyterian head in "wonder, love and praise." As an engineering task it dwarfed anything I have known hereabouts, but the ramifications of its program were beyond limited description. You say that they have no auditorium for such a large assignment? That is correct. But it made not the least difference to those uplifted minds and hearts who have seen the importance of such a thing in this time of world unrest. They just took their little gymnasium, which could not compare with our own high school set up, and converted it into a very satisfactory facility. Less stout hearts would not have attempted this.

So tremendous was this festival that the people of this region had very little idea of what was going on. Washington Court House knew almost nothing of it, and I believe that even Wilmington itself hardly understood that something was under way of national scope and importance, not to mention its international aspects. It was essentially a college course, with credit, but many of its sessions were open to the public, and the number of empty seats seemed to me to be tragic testimony to something, I have not yet figured out. It would be difficult to spot the outstanding feature of all that were presented. Any one of at least five different features would have been enough to have filled Music Hall in Cincinnati any old time, and handsomely.

The main theme, as might well be imagined, was One World, the title of the anthem with which all programs ended, and it was sung by the International Choir. This choir defied description. It had representatives in it all the way from the Congo to the Columbus Pike, literally. One of our own boys was in it, to my great satisfaction. The Wilberforce Singers contributed an element which should have given any one who heard them a whole new concept of a great problem. Many of us have overlooked the grand contribution of that college so very near by. And the high school orchestra, mobilized from so many places, and with only a bare day of rehearsal, was simply incredible. And little did I think that the day would come when I would listen to a Chickasaw Indian, who would reveal a concept of international harmony far beyond what most of us have ever dreamed of. Ataloo was an example to us all. If she could forgive and forget the way her people got pushed around, I think the rest of us ought to be able to do as well.

This festival was more than an entertainment. It was a preview of the future, or else. Lines of race, color, background, culture and philosophy were completely obliterated. It was an example of how we all have something for each other, if we can only have sense enough to recognize it.

None but an inspired community and college could have organized such an eight days. It is the third such thing they have staged over there and we hope it may become a tradition. It reflects well on all of us. Granting that it is essentially the elongation of the shadow of a certain Rolla Foley, it was made possible by a cooperative and thoroughly fine Wilmington.

When this time comes next year, I can heartily recommend that our people here take in all of the performances that are open to the public. The music lovers will become saturated; the students of international relation will come away inspired. Wilmington, we salute you! And a lot of us are beginning to appreciate you.

Steel Prices Are To Go Up

NEW YORK, March 9—(AP)—

The new contract for coal miners will add somewhat less than $1 a ton to costs of making finished steel, the Iron Age, metalworking trade weekly, said.

Despite this, the industry's coal cost per ton of finished steel this year may be less than it was in 1949, the publication added.

With the nation's industries preparing record-breaking production schedules in the wake of the coal strike, the Iron Age said, some steelmakers now believe strong demand for steel will continue into the third quarter.

"If the appliance makers and auto people are guessing right," it said, "1950 will be better than 1949—for themselves, as well as steel."

American Flag Flies Again on Battleship

PEARL HARBOR, March 9—

(AP)—The American flag flies again from the Battleship Arizona, grave of 1,092 of her crew who went down with her in the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor. Many plans were suggested for honoring these dead. Finally a simple, shining 50-foot flag pole was ordered set upon the old ship's superstructure which still shows above the water.

It costs an average of 4.5 cents per pound to cut and wrap meat for self-service counters, according to the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Gravel Is Dumped To Escape Fines

TOLEDO, March 9—(AP)—

Two gravel truck drivers decided that their "pay loads" were more profitable if dumped.

Here's what happened, according to Mayor John Henderson of nearby Naumee:

Lawrence Large and John Roth were stopped by Cpl. William E.

Timberlake of the state highway patrol. He said one truck was overloaded by 17,420 pounds, the other by 15,700.

Mayor Henderson fined them a total of $712 when they pleaded guilty. He informed them that if they drove away with their overloaded trucks they would be breaking the law again.

So Large and Roth dumped their excess in the city's supply yard.

Church Service Helps the Needy

Annual Services
To Be Next Sunday

By ADELAIDE KERR
NEW YORK, Mar. 9--(AP)--Thousands in Thailand suffered so from malaria a few years ago that they were not able to plant or harvest the rice crop--one of their main sources of food.

Atabrine, the drug needed to fight the disease, was controlled by the black market. Then Church World Service shipped in several million tablets. That broke the black market and the disease was checked.

Dr. Robbins W. Barstow, executive associate of Church World Service, cites that aid to Thailand as one of the many times Church World Service has given relief and help to sufferers in foreign countries in the name of 25 million American church members.

The organization represents 23 Protestant and Eastern Orthodox Church bodies in the United States totaling 100,000 individual churches. It is supported also by such agencies as the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America and the United Council of Church Women.

Protestant churches across the country will join in the organization's annual "one great hour of sharing" at services March 12. Dr. Barstow, a former minister who has been with the organization since its founding, says:

"When we went to work in Europe, we found the people suffering from three hungers. There was the hunger of the stomach, which was easily taken care of. There was the hunger of the mind--and the Russians were taking care of that with propaganda for Communism and against the church. Finally, there was the hunger of the heart for friendship. We had to take what was left of the churches and build around the leaders and make religion a vital force to these people once more."

"When a minister in St. Nazaire, France, wrote us that his church, parish house, parsonage and most of his town had been destroyed by war we sent him a prefabricated barracks house for a church and money to re-establish a parish house. People could meet there in worship and activities and their great hunger for companionship was fed. We sent church authorities in Hungary cellulose to print Bibles. And we are now trying to help German churches establish youth centers."

Church World Service officials say that one of the greatest future needs is help for refugees--14 million in Germany, five million in Korea, two million in Pakistan, three-quarters of a million in Palestine. Besides the usual aids, they say, there will be need of mobile units for T. B. treatments, Bibles, sewing machines and sewing centers. They consider Europe's main requirement to be leadership and strengthening of the church.

CWS works with inter-church committees made up of many churches in the countries concerned and channels its belief through them.

Fraud Uncovered In Jobless Pay

SALT LAKE CITY--(AP)--Cases uncovered by Utah's "fraud unit" have led a department head to conclude that "a lot of people don't think it's a crime to cheat their government." The three-man unit is a part of the state department of employment security. Its job is to find out if illegal claims for unemployment compensation. One young man was receiving unemployment compensation payments in a small town while working in Salt Lake City. The boy's mother forged his name to papers in connection with the case and three officials of the town government swore that the handwriting was that of the boy himself.

Two carpenters continued receiving unemployment compensation after they went to work. "When we filed charges we got a letter from the defendants' attorneys calling us 'Russian commissars' and so forth and informing us it was none of our darn business what his clients were doing," said Curtis P. Harding, department administrator.

Move to Kayo Byrd Committee Doomed to Fail, Is Indication

By Clarence J. Brown

The House last week voted to establish a National Science Foundation for the primary purpose of advancing basic research. A national board of scientists, appointed by the president, would direct the activities of the Foundation, and give scientific students scholarships to further their education and carry on research work. This new governmental activity will cost $15 million a year. However, meritorious, there is a grave question whether our government should embark upon any new project not absolutely necessary, or assume any new financial obligation, while we are running an annual deficit of more than $5 billion and have to finance the new activity on borrowed money.

Senator Brien McMahon of Connecticut, head of the joint committee on atomic energy, made a strong appeal last week for the nations of the world to get together and prohibit the production and use of all types of super-bombs. He urges that America lead the way in this effort and insists that, unless an end is brought to the present international race to build stronger armament and more deadly bombs, all civilization may be destroyed--and the senator is in a position to know whereof he speaks.

Senator Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota, national head of Americans for Democratic Action and long known for his left-wing activities, last week demanded the Senate do away with the famous Byrd committee which has so consistently fought for economy in the government. Senator Byrd replied to Humphrey last week by showing that nine of the Minnesota senator's charges against his committee were false. There is every indication the Senate will vote overwhelmingly to continue the Byrd committee, thus putting the brash young legislator from Minnesota in his place.

Republicans, cheered over the results of the British elections last week, are claiming they indicate a worldwide trend away from radical political thought which will bring the election of a Republican Congress next November. Democrats insist the British election results mean nothing, and point out the Labor party won, even though it is in a precarious political position, and has been forced to call off its projected program for nationalizing British industries. Incidentally, there is a well defined rumor floating around Washington that the Truman administration had a $5 billion British loan proposal ready to submit to Congress in anticipation of a big Labor party victory. Whether the new British loan will be requested under present conditions now remains to be seen.

Administrator Hoffman and other ECA officials, who have been requesting a further reduction in tariffs on foreign goods from their present low levels, are now suggesting subsidies be granted to American industries and workmen injured by foreign competition. Quite a number of American industries are now finding it difficult, if not impossible, to compete with foreign goods in both American and world markets, and considerable unemployment has already developed in some sections of the nation.

Not long ago Marshall Tito of Yugoslavia denounced the United States and announced that in case of war between Russia and the Western powers Yugoslavia would remain neutral. Last week the State Department announced another American loan of $20 million had been made Yugoslavia. Many here question friendship for America can be bought with dollars.

Late this month the House is expected to have before it its first omnibus appropriation bill in many, many years. For a long time it has been the practice to enact separate appropriation bills for the different departments, agencies or activities of the government, but this year the new plan of having one over-all appropriation bill to cover all government expenditures will be given a trial. Unquestionably there will be numerous efforts made to reduce or limit the total appropriation provided in the omnibus bill to an amount equal to our national tax income in order to balance the Federal budget. If this is done a cut of somewhere between $3 and $8 billion in the president's budget requests will have to be made.

The ways and means committee last week closed its hearings on the question of reducing or repealing war-time excise taxes. It now seems certain the committee will report a measure making heavy reductions in these excise taxes. However, the new tax bill is not expected to contain any provisions for raising the billion dollars in new taxes as requested by the President.

As this is written it appears the coal mine operators and the miners have settled their differences and that the mines will be in operation again before this appears in print. The president, late Friday, sent a message to Congress requesting authority to seize and operate the mines. The legislation proposed by the president would probably have been enacted, with certain restrictions and safeguards, had the contract settlement not been reached. Most observers here believe that had the president acted promptly many weeks ago the strike could have been settled and the coal shortage averted.

HE'S NOT INJURED MUCH, but from the look on 50-year-old Sidney Andrews' face he doesn't know it yet as two ambulance aides pull him out from under a street car at San Francisco. At hospital it was found Andrews miraculously escaped serious injuries. (International Soundphoto)

Holy Year Pilgrimages Expensive

By JAMES M. LONG

ROME, March 9--(AP)--Pity the poor tourist in a year like this. For Rome has settled down to taking the holy year visitor for all the traffic will bear. It's by no means the official policy. The government has done what it could to peg prices, at least on the essentials of hotel room and restaurant meals. But individual enterprise and Latin imagination have managed to surmount most of these restrictions, however well intended they were. Fortunately, it isn't the actual religious pilgrim who bears the brunt of the price jumping; he comes in only on the fringes of the increase. It's the normal tourist who gets it.

Few Can Afford It
Most of the actual pilgrims so far have come from the middle and lower walks of economic life. They have been the hard working and the poor--the devout who have dug into their savings for the barest possible expenses of their visit to the eternal city.

Many have come here with less than $50 over transport cost. Most of them find housing in small hotels and pensions, where prices are watched closely by religious committees handling holy year arrangements. The pilgrims aren't the ones who buy Borsalino hats and Florentine leatherwork, who eat fettuccine or sip spumante at the nightclubs. The pilgrims come to see the Vatican and visit the holy places. These--and the golden Italian sunshine--are free. But little else is. And the tourist is paying heavy bills on the rest.

Hotels have begun to turn on the pressure. Rates at a good Rome hotel--not necessarily one of the best--are pegged at 2,500 lire a day. That is four dollars a day or $120 a month. Extras Add Up That's the official rate--but by the time the innumerable extras are added on the tourist will be paying $200 a month or more. That includes breakfast. But many hotels are now starting to insist that guests, to keep their rooms, must eat a certain number of their other meals in the hotel dining room. Others are saying now that tourists can have a room only for one week. (It takes a little extra to the room clerk to stay on.) Restaurants, too, are finding ways of hoisting prices by heavy charges on extras. That is permitted, but it can double the price of a normal meal. Other eating places, used to serving Italians heaping plates of specialty spaghetti, have found they can cut their portions now that foreigners have started to come.

Prices Vary
Newspapers have carried stories by shoppers who have gone from store to store and found a different price at each place for the same article. It can be carried further than that. Prices vary by the day, as well. There is even a different asking price, at some shops, depending whether the customer speaks fluent Italian, faltering Italian, French, or English.

The doorman at one nightclub mistook the wife of an American visitor for an Italian girl and whispered to her as they entered: "The man--is he American or English?"

Americans are regarded generally as willing to pay more. If the tourist wants to stay for a few months, he can get an apartment, with a little trying and a lot of paying. Italians find it harder. Many landlords who have modern, well located places are disinclined to rent to Italians. The foreigner will pay more--much more. Besides, with him it may be possible to write a contract for one figure (for tax purposes) and privately agree to rent the place for a sum actually considerably higher. Taxi in Rome have low, fixed

4 Children Die In Blazing Home

NEWARK, Del., March 9--(AP)--Four children were burned to death in their beds last night as flames destroyed a small frame house that a short time earlier had been the scene of a gay birthday party.

The Negro children, ranging in age from one to four, had been put to bed by their mother, Mrs. Sarah Coursey, 25, following the party for their eight-year-old brother, Henry, at the home of their grandmother, Mrs. Sarah Johnson.

Firemen said the blaze apparently was touched off by an exploding oil stove.

Life Behind the 'Big' Race Told During Training Here

A stiff breeze swept down the Fayette County Fairgrounds track, chilling the stable boys who caught glances of their favorite horses from behind wind breaks.

Outside on the track gray skies frowned on a handful of horses, blowing out white puffs from dilated nostrils and stepping fast and high across the semi-frozen track.

Heavily bundled drivers, their shoulders hunched to cut the biting wind, leaned forward on their reins.

It was just another training day for the some half dozen or so drivers. But it was a very important day for them. They were getting their charges ready for the summer racing season.

And there was no time to sit around a pot bellied stove in a track room dreaming about the glorious racing days of the past.

Races are sometimes won in the training season, as any trainer will tell you. But take it from one of the best—Ernie Smith, top heat winner in Ohio during 1949—the training routine is important.

Many Horses Trained

Smith's reputation as a top trainer can be found in the stable-full of horses he handles. They are some of the best in the Ohio section. They will be winning their marks this summer, after the racing season opens on some of the top circuits in the midwest.

For instance, there's Ohio Abbe by Bert Abbe, a seven-year-old pacer with a record of 2:06 3-5. Or there's Moon Song by Gay Song, a 2:11 4-5 five-year-old trotter or General Forbes by Frisco Forbes, a 2:12 3-5 four-year-old trotter.

Other horses trained by Smith, listed with their times if they have records, are as follows: Goldie Hermes by Hermes, 2:15 1-5, four-year-old pacer; Cookie Spencer by Prince Spencer, 2:15, four-year-old pacer.

Ruth Lincoln by Rutherford, 2:18, six-year-old trotter; Priscilla Castle by Bonnie Castle, three-year-old pacer; Air Row by Commandant, two-year-old trotter; Susanna Brooks, a full sister of Atomic Bomb, six-year-old pacer; Koko by Commandant, three-year-old trotter and Priscilla Stone by Blackstone, a four-year-old pacer.

Race to Remember

Smith has been training horses at the Fairgrounds track since 1930. He headquartered at London for four years and at Hillsboro for one year before establishing his training here.

Horses trained by Smith have won some of the top stakes in the nation, and many times "Ernie" has been their driver.

One of the top races which the likeable Smith will always remember was the Fox Stake, paced off at Greenville. Smith was driving Attorney, a two-year-old. The race was close and the stake was worth around $13,000. Needless to say, Smith emerged the winner. Attorney now is making a name for himself as a sire at Dr. H. K. Bailey's Greenacres Farms at Wilmington.

Keeping his horses in top shape is no small job. It requires the assistance of several handlers. Several thousand dollars of harness equipment and sulks must be guarded day and night. This too would be quite a job were it not for "Mike," a Dalmatian, which can ably handle his responsibility.

Life Is Prolonged By Health Tests

PHILADELPHIA, (AP)—Individual preventive medicine can prolong life, Dr. William Harvey Perkins says. Dr. Perkins is directing a "positive health maintenance clinic" which has been operated by Jefferson Medical College since September, 1948.

The new philosophy of health examinations, developed by Dr. Perkins, stresses detailed information on a patient's habits, occupation, family history, heredity, environment, emotional stresses and disturbances and similar factors prior to a complete physical examination. The examination is designed to enable the doctor to know those who come to see him as human beings and not merely as patients, and to keep them in good health as well as cure them if necessary.

One of the difficulties, the doctor says, "is to get people to change their habits even after the probable consequences of failure to do so has been brought to their attention."

STABLE GUARDIAN is "Mike," Dalmatian dog.

Golden Rule—by Rail

LONDON (AP)—The government-owned British Railways wants its employees to be kind to the fare-paying, taxpaying public. A new booklet for new hands—"British Railways Welcome You"—advises them:

"Try to treat members of the public as you would like to be treated if you changed places—and you won't go far wrong."

Artificial insemination of dairy cows has been carried through three generations.

Talkative Teachers

TROY, N. Y. (AP)—An RPI professor thinks college teachers talk too much. In a memorandum on "teaching pitfalls," Professor Neill P. Bailey, head of Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute's department of mechanical engineering, says "the worst temptation in teaching is excessive talking by the instructor."

Radar can be used to detect storms heading toward an area several hours in advance.

Town of 6 People Has Few Troubles

DELLVIEW, N. C. (AP)—Dellview is as free from municipal problems as any town you'll find. There are no slums. The budget is balanced.

Dellview has a population of six. There are two houses. Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Dellinger and their daughter, Gladys, live in one house. In the other live Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Dellinger and their son, Robert. Mrs. J. H. Dellinger is treasurer. At T. Dellinger is chief of police.

The town this year will celebrate its 25th anniversary. The legislature in 1925 incorporated Dellview. The main reason for its incorporation was to give police powers to residents who wanted authority to deal with stray dogs which were molesting chickens. The Dellingers say that their town is the smallest incorporated municipality in the United States.

Birds Skip Vacations

CHICAGO (AP)—Some of the birds skipped their southern vacations this year. Members of the Chicago Ornithological Society say they have seen a number of birds which usually go south in the winter. The reasons: The weather has been milder and feed has been available.

Super-weeds Loom With New Chemical

NORTH PLATTE, Neb. (AP)—Are the new chemical weed killers, such as 2-4-D, in danger of producing a race of "super weeds"? It's a good bet under certain conditions in the opinion of Glenn Viehmeier, assistant in horticulture at the University of Nebraska's sub-station here.

Assuming that a dose of 2-4-D doesn't kill all weeds, then those that survive must be presumed to be possessed of some degree of resistance. Offspring of the weeds with resistance should inherit some of this resistant quality. Repeat the process regularly enough and the weeds eventually will "reach the highest degree of tolerance inherent in the race under treatment," says Viehmeier.

Schnittker Gets Place On All-America Team

By TED MEIER
NEW YORK, March 9—(AP)—Bob Cousy, Holy Cross; Dick Schnittker, Villanova; Dick Schnittker, Ohio State; Paul Unruh, Bradley and Kevin O'Shea, Notre Dame, were named today to the 1950 Associated Press All-American collegiate basketball team.

This all-star team from five different schools was picked by a vote of 429 sports writers and broadcasters in the wake of a fiercely contested season in all parts of the country.

Cousy, whose wizard ball-handling and shooting sparked Holy Cross to its string of 29 straight victories before Columbia upset the Crusaders last Saturday, topped the voting.

On the basis of five points for each first team vote and two points for a second team vote the 6 foot 11 inch Cousy, of St. Albans, N. Y., polled 1,424 points on 270 first and 37 seconds. This compares to a perfect count of 2,145.

Schnittker Is Third

Villanova's Arizin, the top scorer in the country for major schools, received 1,004 points on 170 first and 77 seconds. Schnittker, who sparked Ohio State to the Big Ten championship, was third with 987 points on 171 firsts and 66 seconds.

Unruh, star of Bradley's No. 1 ranked team, got 155 firsts and 9 seconds for 957 points. Notre Dame's O'Shea, who made the 1948 All-America as a sophomore, then slipped to the third team last year, regained top spot with 170 points on 102 firsts and 100 seconds.

Don Lofgran of San Francisco's defending national invitation tournament champions and Dick Dickey of North Carolina State's southern conference champions topped the second team.

Lofgran polled 517 points on 71 firsts and 81 seconds. Dickey got 422 points on 64 firsts and 51 seconds.

Bill Sharmann, of Southern California with 357 points; Sammy Ranzino, of North Carolina State, and Whitey Skoog, of Minnesota, completed the second team. Ranzino and Skoog each polled 349 points.

Third Team Chosen

Don Rehfeldt, of Wisconsin, 346 points; Sherman White, of Long Island, 344; Bill Spivey, of Kentucky, 327; Clyde Lovelette, of Kansas, 281; and Charley Share,

Jamestown Tanners Lead Lions League

Once out in front in the Lions League, the Jamestown Tanners made sure of holding their advantage for at least another week when they made a clean sweep of their bowling match with the WCH Cubs at Bowland Wednesday night.

And, it's well that they did just that, for the second place WCH Tanners also came through with a three-game win from the Bloomingburg Claws.

The Bloomingburg Claws climbed over the WCH Cubs and to within two games of the WCH Claws when they shut out the Claws in their match.

Down in the lower strata of the standing, the cellar-dwelling Jamestown Cubs won two games from the next-to-last WCH Tailtwisters.

Powers, the old faithful of the Jamestown Tanners, came through with the top individual score of the evening when he totaled 609. Most of the scores were in the 400 class with a sprinkling of 500s to bring up the general average.

Lions Planning Baseball Loop

Concert and Joint Meeting Announced

If all goes well, the Washington C. H. Lions will sponsor a baseball team this summer for boys between the ages of 12 and 14 years.

The announcement was made by Gene McLean at the regular meeting of the Lions Tuesday night at the Country Club. President Ambrose Elliott was in charge.

The Lions' Baseball League will include teams representing the Jeffersonville, Jamestown, Bloomingburg and Washington C. H. Lions. The games will be played on Sundays, during the summer school vacation. There will be no admission charged, but collections will be made to help support the league.

It was also announced that a joint meeting of the WCH, Jeffersonville and Bloomingburg clubs would be held here on March 21. On the program for the joint meeting will be Glenn Massman, of Dayton, a noted speaker. Walter Shoop, of Sabina, will entertain with his accordion.

On Monday evening, March 27, the Lions are bringing Roger Garrett, well-known organist, of Columbus, to the WCH auditorium to present a concert.

Tickets can be obtained from members or from Walter Rettig at the First Federal Loan Association.

Movies of the 1949 international convention in New York were shown by Wayne Bower.

The Lions are also setting plans for the coming state and international conventions. The WCH Lions will be represented by ten delegates at the state convention in Cincinnati, June 25-26.

Four delegates will be named to the international convention in Chicago, July 16-20.

Indian Pitcher Getting in Shape

TUCSON, Ariz., March 9—(AP)—Al Benton ran, ran, ran, for five whole days at the Cleveland Indians' spring training camp.

Then the big relief pitcher took the mound. His brief stint yesterday during batting practice was the first throwing he's done since coming to camp.

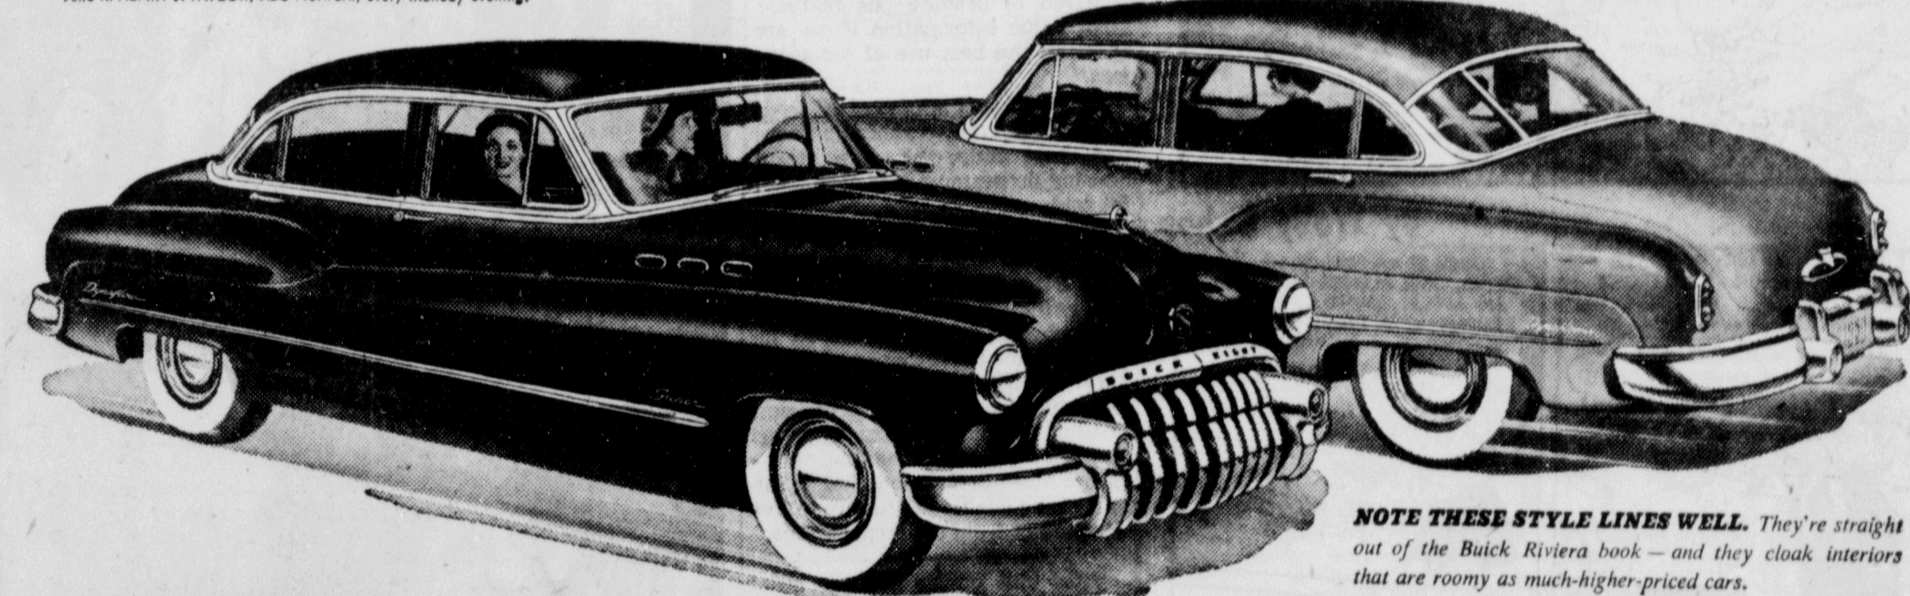

Big Ben, sitting in the clubhouse and wiping streams of perspiration from his brow, explained, "I'm worried about my weight and I don't have to keep pitching to have control. I could go out there now and I would have pretty good control. I'm going to take it slow and easy. The season doesn't open for quite a while yet."

Lou Boudreau, short-stop-manager, after swinging at a few of Benton's offerings yesterday, commented, "Big Ben's going to be all right."

BOTH All-Southern Conference stars, Dick Dickey (left) and Sam Ranzino of North Carolina State were caught by the camera in New York where the Wolfpack played Long Island at the Garden. Dickey scored 381 points last year and Ranzino 355. (International)

FORE AND AFT - a Beauty and a Buy

It's lithe, long and lovely—and it calls not just for one look, but for two.

See how this sleek Sedan looks coming down the road—bold grillwork shining, broad bonnet purring with power, and the wide, curving, unbroken sweep of a one-piece windshield giving you horizon-wide outlook.

And spot the pretty picture you make going away.

The broad, wrap-around rear window and topside styling in the Buick Riviera manner.

The graceful, spacious trunk, the "double bubble" taillights, the sense of high-fashion fleetness in everything from rear fender lines to the curve of the roof.

Yes, that's beauty—beauty in the unmistakable Buick manner. But observe also:

Interiors are extra roomy in all dimensions. The biggest you can buy for the money, we believe—and bigger than many higher-priced cars.

And, since this is a Buick SUPER, there's sensational new power under the hood—Buick's own F-263 Fireball straight-eight, this year's big new in valve-in-head power.

Yes, when you go stepping in this one, you'll really step—with roominess and top-drawer styling and the level going of all-coil springing—yes, and Dynaflo Drive* too, if you choose—making your pleasure complete.

The price? Well, drop in on your Buick dealer, ask about the SUPER 126 and be prepared for happy listening. Here's a buy—so grand a buy you'll lose no time getting behind a Buick wheel.

Kirk Tractorettes Lose Three Games

Kirk's Tractorettes today still held the No. 1 spot in the Ladies Wednesday League, but their grip was considerably weakened Wednesday night when the second place Paullin Motors quintet from Mt. Sterling trounced them in all three games at Bowland.

Although the Tractorettes out-scored the Paullin team 2105 to 1931 without handicaps, they were on the short end of the 2390 to 2243 totals in the last analysis.

The Paullin victory threw the bars up against an immediate climb by Ruth's Beauticians, no matter how well they do when they meet the Mac Toolers in the roll-off of their postponed match. The Wade Shoes tightened their hold on fifth place by winning the first and last games of their match with the NCR girls.

Top Harness Horses Set for Saratoga

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y., March 9—(AP)—Twelve of the nation's top trotters and 16 leading pacers are nominated for grand circuit free-for-all events at Saratoga Raceway in July.

Raceway Secretary Frank Woodland announced today the entries for the four major events, two for each gait.

(Frank Woodland, a Fayette Countian, has been connected with the sport of harness racing nearly all of his life. Although of recent years he has spent most of his time in New York, he still calls Bloomingburg and Washington C. H. his home. He is considered one of the best, if not the best, racing secretary in the country.)

Proximity, second largest money winner in harness racing history, heads the trotting entries and Good Time, harness horse of 1949, tops the nominations for the pacing features.

Proximity was trying for a third straight sweep of the Chatham and Arden. In both events, she is pitted against Chris Spencer, Pronto Don, Demon Hanover, and Bangaway.

Good Time, winner of $105,199 in two seasons, is listed for the Albany and the Empire State.

His opposition includes Alomite, Hayes Hanover, Jerry The First, Royal Blackstone and Riley Hanover.

Both the Boston Braves and the Cincinnati Reds this season will play only two day games in St. Louis. Each club has nine games at Sportsman's Park.

3 Top Cage Teams Handed Setbacks

NEW YORK, March 9—(AP)—Holy Cross, Duquesne and Syracuse, all tournament-bound, took it on the chin last night in college basketball.

Holy Cross, district one's representative in the NCAA playoffs, was upset by Yale, 66-62, at New Haven, Conn.

Duquesne and Syracuse, both in the national invitation tourney, were beaten by Villanova, 68-52, and Canisius, 65-64, respectively.

Yale, behind at one time by 10 points in the second half, put on a great rally to whip Holy Cross on two field goals by Stan Peacock in the last 90 seconds.

It was the second straight defeat for Holy Cross after 20 straight victories, including a carry-over of three from last year. Bob Cousy, named to the Associated Press All-America team announced today, sparked Holy Cross with 18 points, but oddly it was he Peacock faked out of position twice to score his two field goals on lay-up shots.

'Realistic Appraisal' Of Farms Is Sought

COLUMBUS, March 9.—(AP)—Farmers home administration appraisers and farm loan chiefs from four states met here to discuss "realistic appraisals" of farm properties.

C. A. Gehrig, Ohio State Farmers Home Administration director, said in advance of the three-day meeting:

"Sound appraisals are the foundation stones of our lending system. The appraiser must be prepared to provide us realistic farm value information if we are to make the best use of his services."

Differences of appraisal methods for regular farm ownership loans and those under the new farm housing program will be discussed, he said.

"In determining the value of a family-type farm to be purchased with FHA loan funds," he said, "the principal consideration is its earning capacity. We want to be sure that the borrower who buys a farm through our agency obtains one which is capable of producing enough income under average operations to repay the loan within the scheduled period, and at the same time enable the family to live adequately from on-farm income."

BLOOD on the STARS by BRETT HALLIDAY

CHAPTER THIRTY-SIX
RANDOLPH swayed from the bathroom as he finished. His body was flabby and he held one hand pressed to his forehead. He groaned and said, "Get me a robe, will you? Oh, my head!" He groped his way into the bedroom and Shayne followed, found his robe and got his arms into it as one would dress a rag doll.

"Come out here and sit up," Shayne demanded, leading Randolph by the arm to a chair in the living room.

Shayne went back to the kitchen and found a can of tomato juice in the refrigerator. He opened it and poured out a large glass full, added a couple of teaspoonsful of Worcestershire sauce which he found on the shelf and sprinkled it with "Yankee pepper." He carried the glass into the living room where Randolph was slumped low in a chair.

"Here... drink this down. If it stays, we'll follow it with black coffee," He held the glass to Randolph's lips.

Randolph brought both his hands up to grasp the glass. Shayne let go, and the insurance man's hands trembled violently, spilling the juice over his black silk robe.

Shayne took the glass and held it to Randolph's lips and Randolph emptied it in a dozen quivering gulps, then slumped back in the chair, his body inert.

"Hold on," Shayne said. "The coffee is ready." He hurried to the kitchen and brought a steaming cup of coffee. "Here, sit up and drink this."

Randolph pulled himself up slowly. "Boy, I hope you don't think I meant to get this way," he said thickly. "Passing out like a school kid. I can't remember when I ever did that before."

"I think," said Shayne soothingly, "you were under a terrific mental strain after I left here last night. You just poured the stuff down faster than you realized."

Randolph sighed, holding himself erect with an effort. "I was tired and worked up over that jewel loss."

"And much more than that," said Shayne. Randolph's glazed eyes lifted to meet Shayne's. "What'd you mean by that?"

Shayne sat down opposite him and lit a cigarette. "Finish your coffee and I'll get you another cup. We've got a lot to talk about."

Randolph looked at him with a worried frown, then took the cup firmly in both hands and lifted it nervously to his mouth. Some of it spilled, but he kept on sipping until it cooled enough to drink.

Shayne got up and went into the kitchenette and brought the coffee pot back. He refilled Randolph's cup and took the pot back. When he returned he resumed his seat, crossed his knees and sat bent forward studying the toes of his big shoes abstractedly while the insurance agent drank most of his second cup of coffee.

Randolph raised his eyes to Shayne's and asked, "Why you looking at me like that?"

Shayne's gray eyes narrowed. He said, "A lot of things have happened, and I wasn't looking at you."

"But you was thinking about me. An I don't like it," said Randolph sharply. "A lot of things have happened that don't make sense. Unless you seriously consider the possibility that those rubies were fakes."

Randolph gulped down the last of his second cup of coffee and straightened up. "Star rubies! Impossible. There are tests that definitely..."

"Did you apply them at any time?" Shayne cut in sharply. Randolph put his elbows on his knees and rested his chin wearily in his palms. "It wasn't necessary. Star rubies can't be made synthetically. Walter Voorland is one of the world's greatest experts."

Shayne brought his long torso up stiffly. "We keep coming back to that. Just for the sake of argument, let's suppose the darned things were synthetic and Voorland knew it. Suppose the ones he sold King and Kendrick and Mark Dustin were all synthetic. Many coincidences pop up in these cases," he went on casually. "After all the ones you mentioned last night, Mrs. Dustin added another one by getting herself murdered just as Mrs. Kendrick was."

Earl Randolph drank the last of the coffee and set the cup down. He stared at Shayne with dazed eyes, then exclaimed, "Mrs. Dustin murdered? When? How?"

"I think you know as much about it as I do. Maybe a lot more," said Shayne coldly.

"I don't. I swear I don't. I didn't have the radio on last night. I haven't seen a newspaper. I passed out soon after you left here this morning. In the name of Heaven, Mike, tell me what happened to her."

"She got herself bopped over the head by someone who was afraid she knew too much for her own safety," Randolph panted. "I didn't do it."

"Didn't you?" Randolph ran his tongue around his dry lips and laughed nervously. "I thought you were serious for a moment. I'm in no shape for kidding."

"I'm not," said Shayne harshly. The nervous smile slowly faded from Randolph's face. He sat up a little straighter and said in a strained voice, "I think I can use a drink."

Shayne didn't say anything. He lit a fresh cigarette and watched Randolph cross the room to a whiskey decanter, pick it up and carry it into the kitchenette. He came back a moment later with a jigger in his hand. "You've been acting queerly ever since you found me passed out here. I think you'd better tell me what's gnawing at you."

Professors Balk At Loyalty Oath

BERKELEY, Calif., March 9.—(AP)—Nine hundred University of California professors were lined up solidly today against taking a special non-Communist oath—even if it means their jobs.

The group also was on record as against Communists on the faculty and as willing to vouch for it in contractual letters.

Holding that the special oath was discriminatory and a threat to academic freedom, the 900 voted unanimously last night against it. It has been ordered by the board of regents on a sign-or-quit basis by April 30 for all the university's 11,000 employees. Most of them, other than the faculty, already have signed.

Many Oldsters Contribute to Red Cross Here

Inclement Weather
Slows Solicitations
In Fayette County

An old man, bent with age, walked into the Red Cross headquarters in the First Federal Savings and Loan Association office here the other day and plunked down a $5 bill.

He explained that he lived in a room back of a house, located on Columbus Avenue, and sometimes was missed by the solicitors. The man always stops each year to make his contribution to the drive.

Mrs. Fred Rost, secretary for the Red Cross fund drive, said there are several other persons, many whom a person would never suspect as being a potential givers, who come in to make their contributions.

This year Red Cross officials here hope to raise $9,500 to help the county chapter and national chapters carry on their multi-fold tasks during 1950. The drive here and elsewhere ends March 31. Bad weather has slowed solicitations in Fayette County thus far, but activity is expected to pick up next week.

Last year Ohioans contributed more than $4,250,000 to the 1949 Red Cross fund appeal. The money was used for disaster, relief, rehabilitation, service to veterans, services to the armed forces and the national blood bank program and other related services.

Work Widespread

In the field of disaster relief, the Red Cross gave assistance to 214 Ohio families following disasters. There were 12 larger disasters, including a flood.

The program of Service to Veterans was a "splendid chapter" of Red Cross service in the state during the past year, Governor Frank Lausche stated in a release praising the Red Cross.

During the past months Home Service workers have been assisting Ohio veterans in applying for and obtaining the state bonus. Many chapters established small offices in outlying sections for the convenience of veterans; many volunteers who served during the war came back to offer their services, and chapters stayed open evenings for greater convenience to veterans.

To help ex-servicemen in the state get government benefits to which they are entitled, Red Cross representatives were on duty at three veterans administration offices in Ohio. These field directors acted on 42,634 claims cases on behalf of veterans and their families and dependents of deceased veterans.

On Job In Hospitals

Red Cross was on the job in the state's veterans hospitals, too, the governor pointed out. Each month Red Cross chapters in Ohio sent an average of 1,213 volunteers to these hospitals at Chillicothe, Dayton, Brecksville, and Cleveland.

Working with the 273 Gray Ladies and the 175 college and university students who each month provide entertainment and recreational activities to patients are nine full time professional workers.

Governor Lausche also called attention to the Red Cross program of Services to the Armed Forces in the state. He revealed that 34,304 servicemen and their dependents in Ohio received Red Cross assistance during the year. A total of $234,492 was spent by Home Service workers to aid servicemen, veterans and their families.

The governor also praised the National Blood Program, the newest of the Red Cross many programs of community service.

"That the increasing importance of the National Blood Program is recognized by the people of the Buckeye State is obvious when we study the facts," he said. "During 1949, 17,660 Ohioans donated 23,350 pints of blood through the facilities of the Regional Blood Center at Columbus."

Bloomington Man Breaks 11 Ribs In Auto Accident

Edgar McIntosh of Bloomington was recovering Thursday from injuries received Tuesday when involved in an auto wreck north of Mt. Sterling. His car was reportedly demolished when he fell asleep and his vehicle plunged into a ditch.

X-rays taken of McIntosh Wednesday by Dr. E. H. McDonald revealed that 11 of his ribs were broken. One of his teeth was knocked out and his body badly bruised.

Following the examination, he was taken Wednesday afternoon by the Gerstner ambulance to Mt. Carmel Hospital, where he may have been placed in a cast, it was reported.

McIntosh was returning home to Bloomington after a visit with his parents in Pataskia when the accident occurred.

Local Man Starts Census Training

Thomas C. Carr of Washington C. H., who has been appointed as crew leader for the 17th decennial program in Fayette County, reported to the district office in Springfield Wednesday to receive training in connection with the forthcoming population census.

Crew leaders' training will be given to representatives of Clark, Clinton, Champaign, Greene, Logan, Madison, Fayette, Union and Warren counties on March 8, 9, 10, 13 and 14.

Upon completion of the training the crew leaders will return to their respective counties to interview applicants and make appointments of enumerators who will receive their training March 27, 28, 30 and 31.

Announcement of the training course for both enumerators and crew leaders was made by Paul J. Grober, district supervisor for the Bureau of Census, Department of Commerce.

an arrogant smile on your lips and your face," the judge said.

Turning to Miss Coplon he declared:

"You brought disgrace on your name and disgrace on your family. The country looks upon you with sorrow. The country does not seek vengeance but punishment must be substantial as a warning to others."

Then he added she had been "found guilty of betraying your country."

Saypol, in announcing the government's position, emphasized that the state department did not recognize Gubitchev's claim of diplomatic immunity.

Dayton Tax Ruling

men, 46 firemen and 100 garbage and refuse workers. They were added when the tax went into effect on April 1, 1949.

It was not known whether the cuts ordered last night will enable the city to operate within a new reduced budget. The city charter provides the city must live within its income, and more cuts may be necessary, McClure said.

Mayor Louis Lohrey said the Ohio court's decision will not be appealed to the U. S. Supreme Court.

The city's legal department will decide whether the city would ask the voters to approve an income tax or a substitute revenue-raising plan, the mayor added. There was no discussion on a referendum vote last night.

The question of whether city income taxes collected so far will have to be refunded also is a legal one, said City Finance Director Earl Hagerman.

Dayton had planned to spend about $14,000,000 this year, including $7,500,000 for operating expenses. Should expenditures continue at the present rate, with no income tax revenues coming in, the city would be $1,733,000 in the red by Dec. 31, it has been estimated.

Nasty Weather Here

tion of the eastern half of the nation today.

The strong winds which hampered the Midwest for two days diminished but they still carried much force as they moved into the northeastern states.

A cold belt extended over the Great Lakes region southward to the Gulf and eastward to the Atlantic states. Temperatures also remained chilly over the northern plains states and the upper and middle Mississippi and Missouri Valleys. Generally normal weather was reported from west of the Rockies to the Pacific coast. Some rain fell in the Pacific northwest.

Cold Down In Dixie

Temperatures dropped to below freezing in parts of the Carolinas, Georgia and Mississippi. They were below zero again today in parts of Minnesota, the Dakotas, Michigan and Wisconsin. A low of 12 below zero was reported at International Falls, Minn.

Light snow accompanied the gusty winds which struck over the eastern areas today. Severe thunder and lightning storms hit some parts of Connecticut, New York, Pennsylvania and New Jersey last night. Power and telephone communications were disrupted in some areas.

The death toll in the blizzard which whipped across Nebraska mounted to four yesterday. Scores were injured in Nebraska and other parts of the midwest by the storm. Property damage was unofficially estimated at more than $1,000,000. In Nebraska, the Northwestern Bell Telephone Company estimated the blizzard caused more than $750,000 damage to its properties.

Prepaid Tax Sales Boosted in County

Prepaid tax receipt sales in Fayette County for the week ending Feb. 25 of this year were more than $1,000 above those for the corresponding week during 1949. It was reported today by Don H. Ebright, treasurer of the state of Ohio.

Collections of tax receipts for the period extending from July 1, 1949 to Feb. 25, 1950 totaled $206,221.21, compared to a total of $214,844.65 during a corresponding period during 1948 and early 1949.

A decline was also reported in the statewide total for the same period. Collecting from July 1, 1949 to Feb. 25, 1950 over the state totaled $87,540,483.21, compared to collections of $92,943,104.81 during the period from July 1, 1948 to Feb. 26, 1949.

In the statewide total, it is interesting to note that more tax receipts come from sales under the heading of "automotive" than from any other category. For the week ending Feb. 25, 1950, the receipts totaled $556,573.67. Included under the heading were motor vehicles, oil stations, accessories, garages and other. Next highest category was chain stores.

Two from County at Homestead Meeting

Mr. and Mrs. Orville Weidinger of Fayette County were in attendance at the annual meeting of delegates of the Buckeye Homestead Association, held Wednesday in Columbus.

The delegate body decided to hold its annual membership meeting at Ohio State during August of this year and went on record to abolish the legal ceiling prices for the purchase of farms as provided in the Bankhead-Jones farm tenant act.

Magician Here Turns Inventor To Fool Public

Raymond Stephens, local magician, has gone beyond performing stunts, invested, or planned by others, by inventing equipment for performing a vanishing rabbit trick that promises to be much in demand by other magicians. "Stevie" now has his equipment ready. One of the first performances in which he will use it will be given at the High School Auditorium here April 14, when he puts on a magic performance for the PTAs of the city.

Stephens performs the stunt right out on the open stage in full light.

He first shows an empty box, mounted on a solid platform. He then places the rabbit in the box, and still in full view of the audience removes the box piece by piece and the rabbit is gone. It is a clever trick, and the equipment probably will be patented by Stephens.

Stephens gives his next show at Springfield Thursday night and has a half dozen other engagements to fill.

Final Tribute Paid To George Dean

Friends and relatives paid their final tributes to George Dean at funeral services held for him at St. Colman's Catholic Church, at 9:30 A. M., Wednesday.

Father Otto F. Guenther sang Requiem High Mass and Mrs. Max Wilson, accompanied by Miss Margaret McDonald at the organ, sang the response.

The servers for the service were Jack and Michael Boylan, Dennis O'Connor, James Newland and James Croker.

Pallbearers for the interment in St. Colman's Cemetery were old friends, Earl McCoy, John Boone, James Dukey, Buryl Carr, Ralph Penwell and Richard Smith.
